Military Junta Seizes Control Of Argentina

Anti-Peronists Oust President, Congress

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — Argentina's military leaders engineered a swift bloodless coup during the night, ousting President Arturo Illia in a drive to keep Peronists from political power.

The revolutionary military junta that took over power announced today that Lt. Gen. Juan Carlos Ongania, former army commander in chief and the nation's most prominent military man, will become the new interim president.

The junta also dissolved all political parties, Congress and the Supreme Court.

While the junta made its plans public, Illia, who refused to resign, rested at his brother's house in the northern suburbs, apparently before seeking political asylum in Uruguay.

The usually mild - mannered president, who had served 32 months of his six-year term, holed up last night in Casa Rosada, the pink stone seat of government.

JUNTA FORMED

Military sources said the army commander in chief who led the coup, Lt. Gen. Pascual A. Pistarini, and the commanders of the navy and air force formed a governing junta following the coup.

Vice President Carlos Perette fled across the Plate River to Uruguay during the night. The rest of the 65-year-old president's Cabinet stood with him as he defied Maj. Gen. Julio R. Alsogaray, commander of the 1st Army Corps who asked Illia to leave Casa Rosada.

DEFIES ORDER

Illia told Alsogaray he was Argentina's constitutional president and would not surrender to force.

A government source said the president left the building at 6:55 a.m. but did not disclose the circumstances.

Although troops of the presidential guard had mounted machine guns n the halls nd ntrances of Casa Rosada, Alsogaray's troops ringed the building and occupied it without trouble.

The military declared a bank holiday but said government offices and other activities would operate as usual.

The smooth, swift coup was the latest in a long series of plots and revolutions that have been Argentina's fate since the military threw out Dictator Juan D. Peron in 1955.

The armed forces chiefs had been threatening for more than a month to oust Illia, charging

U.S. Suspends Relations With Buenos Aires

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States formally suspended diplomatic relations with Argentina today and voiced public regrets over the military coup that ousted President Arturo Illia.

Press officer Marshall Wright made the announcement at the State Department amid evidence of deep concern by U.S. officials over the upheaval in Buenos Aires.

The text of his statement:

"The United States regrets the break in continuity of democratic constitutional government in Argentina. We are following developments there carefully.

"Diplomatic relations are suspended in keeping with the international practice in such cases and officials of the U.S. Embassy in Buenos Aires will have no formal contact with the new Argentine government until further notice. . . ."

Under the 1965 Rio conference proviso, the nations of this hemisphere agreed to consult before deciding on their respective recognition policies in the event of a coup in one of the American countries.

CONFEREES HOPE TO SETTLE BUDGET

Governor Finds $26 Million In School Aid Money To Spread Among Poor Districts

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Faced with a taxpayers' rebellion against local bond and tax plans, Gov. Edmund G. Brown and Democratic legislative leaders have reached into the state treasury and pulled out $26 million more in aid for local schools.

The Democratic governor's surprise announcement came as Senate-Assembly conferees went behind closed doors today for the first round of budget talks, hopeful of producing a compromise $4.60 billion spending bill before the Thursday midnight deadline.

The Assembly passed a version of the budget yesterday.

Brown announced last night that Education Department officials unexpectedly told him last Friday of $26 million in savings in the state school aid fund—money saved through unification of school districts.

Another million will come from the General Fund, "if necessary," he said.

While only a small percentage of total aid to local school districts — expected to be more than $1 billion in the next fiscal year — the governor said it "will help the poorest districts the most, and it will do it right now."

Backing Brown was an occasional critic in school finance legislation, Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh, D-Inglewood. Also supporting him was Assembly Speaker Pro tem Carlos Bee, D-Hayward, and Sen. George Miller Jr., D-Martinez, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee.

The plan, Brown said, will be amended into an Unruh school aid bill awaiting a vote in Miller's committee. Unruh predicted approval.

Brown said the new aid "is only a beginning" in answering some of the problems posed by voters rejection of most school bond and tax proposals in the June primary.

He said the newly discovered money belongs to districts

U.S. Planes Again Pound Fuel Depots

COMBINED AP & UPI

SAIGON, South Viet Nam —Buddhist extremist leader Thich Tri Quang defied an order today from South Viet Nam's supreme Buddhist patriarch to end his 21-day hunger strike.

Under arrest in a Saigon clinic, the antigovernment monk clung to his diet of sugary liquids, vowing to fast unto death unless Premier Nguyen Cao Ky's military regime resigned. He was reported growing increasingly weaker.

The second consecutive day of heavy U.S. air attacks on North Viet Nam's fuel depots dominated military activities. On the ground, more than 6,000 U. S. troops hunted in the coastal hills 240 miles northeast of Saigon for 1,800 North Vietnamese but encountered only sniper fire.

Marine units were using dogs to spot the hiding enemies.

U.S. Air Force and Navy jets flew 84 multiplane missions against the Communist North Monday, (Saigon time), returning for the first time in a month to the strategic Yen Bay rail yards on the Red River line to Red China 80 miles northwest of Hanoi. A spokesman said they destroyed a highway bridge, damaged a railroad bridge and wrecked two antiaircraft sites.

A Navy A-4 Skyhawk from the carrier Constellation became the 271st plane lost over North Viet Nam when it was hit near Thanh Hoa. The pilot was listed as missing. A helicopter crashed 48 miles from Saigon, killing its pilot and injuring two crewmen.

In a sidelight to the U.S. military effort, the big American

The first battalion of the 320th Artillery, about 900 men, began boarding two ships at dawn, to return to Ft. Bragg, N.C., headquarters of the 82nd Airborne Division.

At the same time, other troops began boarding air transports at San Isidro airbase for the flight home.

Two Youths Are Jailed On Marijuana Charge

Two young men—one a burglar on parole, the other a parolee from the California Youth Authority—were jailed yesterday on marijuana charges after painstaking surveillance by San Rafael police.

Two boys, aged 15 and 16, who were in the men's car at the time of their arrest were turned over to juvenile authorities on a series of holding charges. Both juveniles are Youth Authority parolees.

Booked at the county jail on charges of possession, transportation and sale of marijuana was Reynold Ashley Fitch, 19, of 16 Mariposa Street, San Anselmo.

Robert Dale Litteral, 18, of 1466 Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael, was chared with possession and sale of marijuana.

Both were held in lieu of $2,200 bail set by Superior Court Judge Samuel W. Gardiner.

Fitch was paroled from the county jail three weeks ago after serving four months for beating a fellow inmate while serving an eight-month sentence for two burglaries.

Yesterday's arrest followed a tip to police that a marijuana sale was to take place at a San Rafael drive-in cafe. Police Inspector Thomas C. Cheetham and Sgt. David Vargo staked the place out and kept Fitch's car under surveillance on its arrival.

A fifth person entered the suspects' car.

Fitch and his companions then drove away, tailed by police on a circuitous route ending at Tiburon Boulevard and Bret Harte Road, where they were arrested.

Found in the car were two cellophane bags of marijuana.

The identity of the fifth person was withheld by police.

A sawed-off shotgun was also found in the car.

Richardson Bay Federal Aid Studied

By RICHARD LYTTLE

Marin County Supervisors are leaning toward putting the Richardson Bay problem in the hands of the federal government, but they want more information before marching off in that direction.

The idea of a federal redevelopment project on the shoreline from Richardson Bay Bridge to Sausalito city limits was reopened today by County Planning Director Paul C. Zucker.

Supervisors generally favored the idea, but wondered what effect it would have on the assessment district proposed to deepen Saucelito Canal. They asked Zucker to confer with federal officials on this point and report in three weeks.

Prompting the discussion were two applications for filling portions of the tidelands. George Kappas asked permission to fill on both sides of the bulkhead

Borrowed Uniform Doesn't Get 4-F Into Viet Combat

SAIGON (AP)—He was 4-F and had only $5 in the pockets of his borrowed uniform when he arrived to join the war. But David Stucki never got a crack at the Viet Cong.

The San Francisco computer operator waited today for the long flight back home. He had been discovered as an imposter with his crusade hardly under way.

"I wanted to join the Army," Stucki, 21, said. "It's something I lacked. I wanted to fight here."

So he changed places with a soldier he met at a party in San Francisco a week ago. The GI was back home on emergency leave from Viet Nam and wanted a hardship discharge because of family problems but was due to return in a few hours.

Stucki, whose own military ambitions had been thwarted by a physical disability, seized the opportunity.

"We decided suddenly to change clothes and I would take his place," Stucki said. He refused to identify the soldier, a private first class.

He took the soldier's travel orders and Army identification papers and before the sun rose again over the Golden Gate was aboard a military transport winging toward Viet Nam from Travis Air Force Base.

Stucki debarked at Saigon still undetected and made his way to the soldier's engineer battalion, but there the ruse ended. The battalion's noncoms spotted the fake Pfc, and Stucki was hustled back to Saigon.

U.S. consular officials said they were trying to reach his father, Dr. Virgil Stucki, a den-

ALL SMILES—Cesar Chavez, National Farm Workers Assn. director, smiles in Sacramento after Gov. Edmund G. Brown agreed to an investigation of the grape workers election. The two met yesterday at the Capitol in Sacramento.

(UPI Telephoto)

Grape Voting Probe Promised By Brown

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Cries of "Viva la Huelga" sounded in the Capitol as Governor Brown entered a major farm labor dispute by agreeing to an investigation of a recent union election in two counties.

Yesterday marked the governor's first public step into the controversy after months of urging by workers who have been on strike in Central Valley vineyards since last September.

And it followed his first meeting with Cesar Chavez, the leader of the grape strikers, who earlier had turned down a meeting with Brown, just as the governor balked at an Easter Sunday Capitol meeting with workers who marched 325 miles to Sacramento.

At issue is last Friday's union representation election held at Di Giorgio Corp. farms in Kern and San Diego counties. The National Farm Workers Assn. led by Chavez boycotted the election, leaving only non-striking employees, who chose the Teamsters Union as their bargaining agent. It was the only union on the ballot.

Chavez has declared that the election was "a fraud," with ineligible voters, few field hands balloting and sexual lures used to get reluctant laborers to the polls. He said court action will be taken in an effort to have the election declared null and void.

Yesterday, he showed up at the governor's plush Capitol office along with members of the Mexican-American Political Assn. who arranged the conference, but apparently didn't make clear Chavez would attend .

Brown said he was surprised, but welcomed Chavez and later told newsmen he was impressed with him.

After an hour's meeting, Brown agreed to the strikers' request that an impartial investigation be made into the Di Giorgio election. He said "a person of national prominence" would be selected as soon as possible.

Brown disclosed also that he had asked the firm's president, Robert Di Giorgio, to postpone the election, but hadn't pressed the matter.

The governor, previously under heavy fire from Mexican-Americans who contended he was ignoring their problem and could thus lose their vtoes in November, also accepted another workers' demand, saying: "I hope the Teamsters and Di Giorgio will not sign a contract" until the dispute is resolved.

Chavez, clad in a short-sleeved olive shirt, dungarees and tennis shoes, sat next to the governor, nattily dressed in a dark blue suit, during their brief news conference.

He said he was "satisfied" with the investigation plan, and the two dozen strike supporters also in the delegation applauded and cried "Viva la Huelga" — long live the strike — after Brown's statement.

But the governor added a subduing note, saying that the investigation would mainly be "for my own personal satisfaction" and its "only effect is on national opinion."

Earthquake Hits Central California

PASO ROBLES (AP)—Central California's strongest earthquake in 11 years jolted nerves in a wide area last night, but did little damage.

A chimney fell on a residence in Parkfield, a farming community of 20 houses 20 miles east of San Miguel where University of California seismologists said the tremor centered.

A power line and a number of trees fell there but the only injury was a minor cut to a young boy.

Plaster cracked in the police station at San Luis Obispo and the main jolt apparently was along the San Andreas fault near Parkfield, Coalinga and Priest Valley.

Lea Burke, a Paso Robles policeman, said the second jolt was so strong he fed his station, saw telephone poles sway and heard buildings rattle.

Report of the quake came from Ventura, Santa Barbara, Kern and Kings counties but no place reported extensive damage or injuries.

Guild Pact Nears

NEW YORK (AP) — Negotiators for the World Journal Tribune Inc. and the striking Newspaper Guild of New York have reached "agreement in principle," David L. Cole, chief mediator, said today. The agreement is subject to ratification by the Guild's negotiating committee and the union's membership.

Painters Union Ousts Officers

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Members of Sacramento's troubled Painters Union Local 487 have turned four incumbent officers out of their job, electing a new, 24-year-old president.

The new president is Tom Caster, succeeding Ted Carty. New executive committee members are Claude Cason, John Randall and Ed Survillo.

The election during the weekend came after charges and counter-charges of unfair campaign practices. The strife revolved around contractors Max Ward and Norman Call. The pair were arrested on murder and conspiracy charges in connection with the slaying of Dow Wilson, San Francisco Bay Area painters union leader.

Ward, 38, and Call, 45, were trustees representing employers on the union's pension fund committee.

Dodd Says Visit Senate Business

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Ethics Committee has recessed after hearing Sen. West Germany in 1964 on official Senate business — not in behalf of a lobbyist friend.

The committee's hearings into charges against Dodd of misconduct in office are expected to resume after July 15.

The white-haired Connecticut Democrat told the committee yesterday he made the 1964 trip "for the sole purpose of looking into the Stashinsky case" — the case of a Soviet agent imprisoned in West Germany for the killings of two Ukrainians.

WOULD HELP

But Dodd also said he was "perfectly willing" to help his friend Julius Klein just as he would anyone else he felt had been treated unfairly. Klein, a Chicago public relations man, is a registered agent for West German firms.

Dodd's testimony climaxed four days of public hearings about his relations with Klein — the first phase of the committee's investigation of misconduct charges against him by columnists Drew Pearson and Jack Anderson.

No date was set for a resumption of the hearings, when Klein is to testify. But chairman John C. Stennis, D- Miss., said it would not be before July 15, about the time Klein is expected

CENTRAL ISSUE

The purpose of Dodd's 1964 trip to Germany developed into the central issue as the testimony unfolded in the first case the Ethics Committee has heard since its creation.

Dodd testified that as vice chairman of the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee he made the six-day trip in April 1964 to gather more information about the case of Bogdan Stashinsky because of his long and deep interest in "the Soviet terror apparatus."

Earlier in the hearings James P. Boyd Jr., Dodd's former administrative assistant, said he regarded this "as a cover up and no more." Boyd swore that Dodd has told him his purpose was to help Klein, that "Julius has been pressing me and pressing me to go."

But Dodd testified yesterday he didn't believe any such conversation as Boyd described ever took place, although he said he was anxious to do everything he could to help Klein because he regarded him as "the victim of an injustice."

Dodd said that after a Senate Foreign Relations Committee investigation of foreign agents in 1963 some segments of the German press had pictured Klein as "a convicted criminal."

Klein had protested to Dodd and other senators that distortions in the German press had cost his public relations firm $50,000 and $100,000-a-year contracts and asked for help in preventing the loss of additional clients.

Dodd testified he didn't go to Germany with "any mission" to help Klein but if the subject of the Foreign Relations Committee investigation happened to be rasied by German officials, he said, he was perfectly willing to tell "the true facts."

"Here was a man I knew and respected and who had lost his business in good part because of misrepresentations," said Dodd.

Stennis and other committee members questioned him closely about his reasons for taking off to Germany in the midst of a civil rights bill filibuster in the Senate to look into the Stashinsky case—described as "stale" by Stennis.

Dodd said that before leaving he got assurance from Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, then a senator leading the fight for the civil rights bill, that it would be all right for him to be away for a week or so.

He testified that he had been trying to arrange an interview with Stashinsky for several months and felt that the time of his trip was as convenient as any could be.

Convicted Judge Due Ballot Spot

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — California's Supreme Court refused yesterday to scratch from the November ballot a suspended judge who seeks re-election after being convicted of an arson conspiracy.

Maurice Hardeman, municipal judge in the Alviso-Milpitas Judicial District, was suspended after being convicted of conspiracy to commit arson and conspiracy to obstruct justice.

But in the last primary election he won his way into a runoff election for that post.

Supreme Court judges, noting he had appealed his convictions, ruled: "The judgment of conviction has not become final within the meaning . . . of the California Constitution."

With that they refused the petition of Mrs. Renee Baum, an attorney who ran third in the primaries and sought to displace Hardeman in the runoff. She held he should be disqualified for commiting an "infamous crime."

Hardeman was convicted in March 1965 of a conspiracy to burn his ranch cabin for $2,000 in insurance.

Father, 20, Is Booked In Slaying

WATSONVILLE (AP) — A young Redwood City father was booked into Santa Cruz County jail yesterday on charges of murder and forcible rape. His wife's body had been found earlier, stabbed 35 times, shot once and possibly strangled with a coat hanger.

Dist. Atty. Richard Pease said Lynn Smith, 20, son of a wealthy Millbrae industrialist, killed his wife, Linda, 22, and raped his wife's 13-year-old sister.

FROM IOWA

Pease said a key witness in the slaying was Letha Thomsen of Hampton, Iowa, Mrs. Smith's sister, who told police the young man had tied her down and raped her. She was visiting the couple and helped care for their two children, ages 1 and 2.

Smith, a student at City College of San Mateo, is the son of Telford Smith, a former mayor of South San Francisco and millionaire director of Smith-Blair Co., a pipeline supply firm.

Sheriff's deputies said Mrs. Smith's body was found in the bathroom of a ranch cabin on Telford Smith's 180-acre apple ranch, six miles northeast of Watsonville.

The young man's father said he couldn't imagine what triggered the violence in the predawn hours. He said the dead woman had recently suffered a nervous breakdown and had been confined to a private hospital.

FOUND IN CAR

"My son had been trying hard to help her over it," he said.

Pease said Letha appeared at 6:30 a.m. at the home of Jim Drewry, the ranch foreman. She was carrying the couple's small children. She told Drewry that Smith told her his wife had shot herself.

Pease said the young man was found in an auto filled with carbon monoxide. Sheriff's Deputy James Stultz said he smashed the window and took Smith to the Santa Cruz County hospital where he was treated for shock.

The young couple had been married for four years. The elder Smith said they had gone to the ranch to paint the cabin for summer visits.

A RECORD-BREAKING STATUE

"The largest wood statue of St. Francis in the world" was raised yesterday at sculptor Barney West's "Tiki Junction" in Sausalito. West (middle) and apprentice John Nordstrand (right) took two months to carve the 20-foot redwood statue. "It is the first St. Francis statue where the saint is holding a cat instead of a bird," claims West. A kitten is in the saint's hands, and a dove on his left shoulder. "Both are asleep," West said. "It is a symbol of peace." (Independent-Journal photo)

San Rafael May Trim City Rec Center Fund

San Rafael city councilmen indicated last night they may cut the proposed allocation for a community center at Albert Park in the fiscal 1967 budget.

The proposed budget lists $165,000 to build the center to replace temporary quarters rented by the city at Second and Brooks streets.

DECISION LATER

Councilmen agreed to reconsider the item again when they study all capital improvement projects at a budget study session at 7:30 p.m. July 11 at city hall.

Recreation Director Joseph D. Rodota said that Wilkins Post 37, American Legion, might help pay for the center, possibly up to $100,000. The post "needs a home" since its former building on Union Street is gone, Rodota said.

The Legion would want the center for meetings on Tuesdays, and possibly six or eight times a year for special functions, he said.

FEDERAL HELP

Rodota also said that some federal funds may be available for the project.

Councilman Fred E. Jensen said he felt the city would be "better off" to put the community center proposal on a bond issue "and let the people decide."

Councilman Harry Barbier suggested the council "put in one-half this year and one-half next year."

Rodota explained that since the city has no lease at its temporary center, "we could very easily be without quarters again."

Other capital improvements in the parks department budget include $21,500 for second phase development of Santa Margarita Valley Park and $21,500 for initial development of Monticello Park, adjacent to Don Timoteo School in Terra Linda, and $17,000 for improvement of lighting at Albert Park tennis courts and baseball field.

Jensen said he felt the recreation program "was getting out of line, except for senior citizens . . . there's not enough for them"

Mayor C. Paul Bettini retorted that, San Rafael has gone "far beyond" other cities in Marin in providing facilities for senior citizens. Councilman Charles W. Aby said San Rafael will do its share but doesn't have the responsibility to provide facilities for senior citizens throughout Marin.

The council approved adding two groundsmen to the parks staff at a cost of $11,092, and indicated the job of maintaining the landscaped traffic islands may be switched from public works to the parks crew.

Councilmen made no changes in the proposed $73,487 budget for the building department, which calls for no additional personnel.

Public Works Director Norris M. Rawles lost out on his bid for purchase of a compressor, sand blaster and new pickup truck at a total cost of $11,300, which had not been included in the written budget request.

Councilmen authorized spending $5,000 for a device to vacuum leaves from streets, and cut the traffic signal maintenance account from $5,000 to $2,500.

Rawles reported a joint project of city, county and subdivider to extend Las Gallinas Avenue in the Twelve Oak Hills subdivision area would cost the city $13,167, which is not listed in the budget.

There was a contingent of about 20 city employees at the session.

NO PAY TALK

"We're not going to discuss salaries toinght if that's what you people are here for," Jensen said.

Leo F. Schwab, president of the San Rafael City Empolyees Assn.' said that was why they attended, and they would return for the salary hearings.

Mayor Bettini said the council will take the "salaries all at one time," and promised the employees will be notified in advance.

City Mgr. Dan E. Andersen has recommended an across-the-board 5 per cent salary increase for all city employees.

Suspended Policeman Resigns From Force

San Francisco Police Officer De Nelson A. Durr of Novato, suspended from the force for unofficer-like conduct since June 6, resigned yesterday.

Durr, 43, of 25 Gertrude Lane, submitted his resignation to the San Francisco Police Commission shortly before it was to begin hearing charges that he left a bar at 2:45 a.m., on June 6 under the influence of liquor, refused to take a drunkometer test, and refused to submit a written report to his commanding officer.

Durr was previously suspended from the force after a fatal automobile crash near Novato April 5, 1965. Killed was John A. Bettencourt, 62, a passenger in Durr's car which hit a bridge abutment and overturned on Novato Boulevard. Durr and another passenger, Audrey Nelson, 21, were injured.

Durr, on disability leave at the time, was fined a month's salary and warned by the commission that any future offense could mean his dismissal.

On accepting his resignation yesterday, the commission noted that Durr's eight-and-one-half year record of police service was unsatisfactory.

On June 9, three days after his suspension, Durr applied for a disability pension from the department. He claimed two service-incurred injuries — to his right hand and right knee.

If the retirement board approves, he will receive about $535 a month, three-fourths of his patrolman's salary.

Emily Boykin, 27, of 17 Merrydale Road, Los Ranchitos, has filed a $150,000 suit in Marin Superior Court for injuries suffered in seven-car chain of accidents on Highway 101 north of Alto on March 12.

She alleges negligent driving by Joselyn William Hogue, 55, of 52 Greenbrae Boardwalk, resulted in her receiving neck, back, head and internal injuries.

The series of collisions started when the Hogue car struck the median chain link fence, California Highway Patrol said.

Lawmakers Try To Revive Nation's Parcel Post Habit

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The House passed and sent to the Senate yesterday a bill to increase the size and weight limits on parcel post packages and to raise parcel post rates by about 8 cents a parcel.

The House approved the measure by voice vote after mollifying opponents who said broadening the package limits would wreck the Railway Express Agency, a major competitor of the government in package handling.

An amendment was approved which would open post office jobs to any REA or railroad workers who became unemployed as a result of the extended limits.

An estimated $103 million yearly increaee in postal revenues would be generated by the more liberal regulations, proponents estimated, giving parcel post poundage a pickup.

It has declined 41 per cent since a 1951 reduction in the maximum package weight and size regulations.

The House bill would allow, between first class post offices, handling of packages up to 40 pounds weight and 100 inches combined length and girth.

The budget includes a raise from $5,400 to $5,600 for the district's teacher, Mrs. Bernice Schuler.

Osuna Hears Sentence To Gas Chamber

Mark C. Osuna today was formally sentenced to death in the gas chamber by Judge Thomas F. Keating of Marin Superior Court for the Labor Day murder of bartender Mario Ferrari.

An identical sentence for Osuna's co-defendant, Jack R. Gorman, was delayed with granting of a continuance until next Tuesday for Public Defender Jerome Durham to have time to prepare a motion for new trial for Gorman.

Judge Keating today denied Osuna's motion for a new trial. Osuna and Gorman were convicted June 13 in the fatal shooting on Labor Day of Ferrari, bartender at Mission Inn in San Rafael. The same jury ruled Tuesday for death sentences for both.

Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales said Osuna will be transferred to San Quentin's Death Row to await outcome of an automatic appeal to the State Supreme Court. If Gorman's motion also is denied, he will join Osuna.

Back in San Francisco, Stucki's boss expressed astonishment at his employee's sudden emergence 5,000 miles away. Roland Waal, manager of the computer operations at the University of California's Medical Center, said: "He was working the night shift and was due on again Monday midnight. When we came in Tuesday morning and saw no work had been done, we were thoroughly alarmed and suspected foul play."

Stucki had been on the job about two months without giving any hint of wanting to go off to war. "A nice, competent, blond and rather tall young man," said Waal. "He just looked like an average American."

An Army spokesman in San Francisco took a serious view of the matter. He said that if Stucki's story about borrowing the uniform and credentials is true, "God help that unnamed soldier."

Novato Council Studies Budget

The Novato City Council in a budget session last night gave tentative approval to public works items totalling $362,700 and capital improvements totalling $11,400.

COUP

that his regime was too soft on the Peronists, who have won six of the last seven provincial elections.

Pistarini, 50, a former champion Olympic equestrian, brought the crisis to a sudden head yesterday.

He began with the dismissal and arrest of Maj. Gen. Carlos A. Caro, commander of the 2nd Army Corps, for meeting privately with Peronist leaders. Pistarini also issued a communique announcing he no longer recognized the authority of the army secretary, Brig. Gen. Eduardo Castro Sanchez. Castro Sanchez resigned.

The military then went swiftly into action. Troops took over the Congress building and the central cable office. Through the night army and navy personnel moved quietly around Buenos Aires, occupying other key points. The 37 government radio stations throughout the country were linked into one network by the military and broadcast progress of the revolt.

Shortly after midnight, Illia, 65 ,ordered Pistarini dismissed. The army commander's office rejected the edict as "totally without value."

High officials and political associates of the president emerged from his office with tears streaming down their faces. Illia appeared briefly. A hundred supporters sang the national hymn.

Troops moved to within two blocks of Casa Rosada, while the commanders of the navy and air force entered the building to confer with the country doctor who became president with the blessings of the military.

Shortly before dawn the military broadcast the announcement that it controlled the country.

The communique said the president had offered his resignation to the armed forces chiefs at 9 p.m. Monday. "But later contradictory actions by Illia prompted the intervention of the armed forces," it said.

The communique said all Argentine airports were under control of the air force. It added that Gen. Maril Fonseca, assistant chief of the general staff in charge of intelligence, had taken over control of the federal police.

It said the armed forces would take steps to guarantee freedom of labor. This meant no strikes or other labor disturbances would be tolerated.

The public reacted calmly. Groups of curious persons stood in front of Casa Rosada and motorists circled the building, but no disturbances were reported.

A high military source said the armed forces plan to reorganize Argentina's political structure much as the Brazilian military did after it overthrew President Joao Goulart.

The plan, mainly aimed at weakening the Peronists, would dissolve the more than 200 political parties which fielded candidates in the last congressional election in 1965. They would be replaced by a few major parties, perhaps only an official party and an opposition one. the Peronists, although they usually get the allegiance of 20 to 30 per cent of Argentina's 12 million voters, would not be among the legal survivors.

"having the most acute property tax problems."

Of the money, about $16 million will go to poor districts without the industrial tax base to support their schools.

But Unruh and Bee said the new aid will be limited to districts that have voted in favor of unification.

Another $10 million will be used to boost the state bonus to districts that lower class size in the first three grades.

Now, districts protest the present bonus isn't enough — especially since they have lost bond issues and tax plans.

Miller said the plan will provide another $10 for each child in the smaller classes.

Unruh said he regretted his earlier plan for massive tax relief and school aid wasn't acceptable to his colleagues, but "I am extremely pleased that we can now make available sufficient funds to provide this state aid to the most hard-pressed school districts."

Earlier in the session, Unruh had said if Brown had supported his school aid plan, financed by a sales tax hike, it would have passed.

Budget conferees expressed optimism over agreeing on a spending bill before the fiscal year ends at midnight Thursday.

"We're making satisfactory progress," said Assemblyman Robert W. Crown, D-Alameda, chairman of the lower house Ways and Means Committee.

construction combine handling the Defense Department's building program announced a tentative agreement with 13,000 Vietnamese workers to end a crippling eight-day strike in the Saigon area. A spokesman for the RMK-BRJ combine said it endorsed the workers' demands for higher wages in exchange for a pledge by their representatives to urge them back to the job Wednesday.

On the military front, U.S. field commanders reported a noticeable decline in North Vietnamese morale and combat efficiency in recent fighting. The Americans found some Communist units poorly equipped, short on food and medicine, and more anxious than before to surrender.

U.S. intelligence men attributed the lagging morale to the success of spoiling operations conceived by the allied command to keep the enemy off balance, the persistent bombardment of enemy strongholds, including raids by the huge Guam-based B-52 bombers, and seizures of Communist food and supply caches during allied sweeps.

From London, Hanoi was reported today to have dispatched President Ho Chi Minh and other top representatives to Peking and Moscow for emergency consultations on the Viet Nam War.

The mission was linked to growing troubles over Peking's continued refusal to cooperate in a joint Communist aid effort for North Viet Nam.

Premier Chou En-Lai was said to have turned down a request by Romania to allow war equipment from Russia and the East European countries to be moved to North Viet Nam through Chinese territory.

Homestead Tax Rate May Grow

Homestead Valley Sanitary District directors last night adopted a 1967 budget of $20,270 and heard that the tax rate is expected to increase by about nine cents per $100 assessed valuation.

The current budget is $20,200.

Tax rate this year, including bond redemption, was 47.5 cents. Board Chairman Warren I. Jacobs said the rate is expected to jump from 31 cents to 40 cents for operation, maintenance and payments to the City of Mill Valley for sewage treatment.

He said the revenue from sources other than tax, such as new connection fees, has dropped drastically.

line, and Alexis Tellis of Commodore Properties asked permission to fill on the shoreward side of the line to develop a site for a Hyatt House motel, restaurant, and cocktail lounge.

Supervisors spoke generally in favor of the Tellis proposal on land now occupied by the seaplane base, but were leary of the Kappas application.

"We certainly know what the Kappas situation is and I wouldn't approve anything of his, "Supervisor William A. Gnoss declared bluntly.

Mrs. Jean Barnard of Mill Valley declared, "Nowhere is there a name that raises the blood pressure of people in Marin County like 'Kappas'." She said Kappas, seems to think the best defense is a good offense and he is "going ahead as if he had nothing to be ashamed of."

She was referring to alleged violations in county permit and fill restrictions in the bay.

Kappas is seeking permission to fill the entire block between Shasta and Fresno streets.

Zucker opposed the Tellis application, saying that is would be "a stone in the road" for over-all study by the federal government.

Under a renewal project, the federal government would buy up land and resell it to private investors for development according to the over-all plan. The county usually puts up a third of the cost while the federal government puts up the balance.

It would take about 18 months for an application to clear.

County Administrator Alan Bruce said it appeared both fill applications would be turned down by the Bay Area Conservation and Development Commission, so the board of supervisors might just as well "deny them at this level."

"That's not what they told me," Tellis said.

Tellis said that the assessment district for the dredging appears to have failed, but Supervisor Peter H. Behr declared that it is going ahead.

Supervisors held up action on both fill applications for three weeks, awaiting Zucker's report.

Bolinas Lagoon Zone Debate Is Postponed

Consideration of open area zoning for Bolinas Lagoon, to have come before county supervisors next Tuesday, was put over until Aug. 2, when a master plan for the harbor district is expected.

Norman T. Gilroy of Mill Valley, preparing the plan, said it is "virtually complete" but must go to the district board for study before being submitted to supervisors.

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Brown has signed a bill he says "keeps the construction program on schedule" for the Bay Area Rapid Transit District.

The measure he signed yesterday raises from $133 million to $180 million the bond limit for financing a tube across San Francisco Bay to carry the district's passengers.

Goldberg Hopeful Of Space Treaty

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.N. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg says similarities in space treaty drafts submitted by the United States and the Soviet Union are encouraging signs that a treaty may become a reality.

Both treaty drafts would limit use of the moon and other celestial bodies to peaceful purposes and ban their use as military bases or for weapons testing.

New Corte Madera Budget Up $129,000

Corte Madera Town Council last night adopted a final 1967 city budget totaling $755,643, up $129,283 over the current budget.

Town Mgr. Ronald L. Usher said he expected the tax rate to remain at $1.04 per $100 assessed valuation, the same as this year.

Usher had proposed a $748,008 budget, but during the course of two hearings, the council added $7,635. Usher's initial prediction of no tax increase had enough "cushion," he said, to absorb the $7,635.

Addition of one patrolman to the budget last night accounted for $5,980 of the increase. Police Chief Frank L. Nelson said expansion of residential and commercial areas led him to ask for two new officers. Usher opposed the request. The council authorized adding one.

Also added to the police department was a new dispatcher-clerk position, to be filled by a woman. Recommending the position, Usher said it would permit opening of the department office on week ends, and would reduce reliance on an answering service.

Chief Nelson urged a 5 per cent pay hike for his men, but the council endorsed Usher's recommendation for a 2.5 per cent hike. Total budget for the department in 1967 will be $116,930, up $16,806 from the current year.

Donning his second hat, as fire chief, Nelson asked two additional paid firemen, to cover the area east of Highway 101 during the day from Monday to Friday. Most volunteer firemen in this area, he said, are away during this period.

The council, however, agreed with Usher that the time had come for a thorough study of fire protection in the town, and authorized Usher to make the study. No additional funds should be budgeted for the department pending the study, the council agreed.

Disputing Nelson's request for two new men, Usher said the town instead "should work out a system of augmented coverage." Citing the department's "tremendous morale and amazing response," Usher insisted that hiring two new men would be "gross inefficiency." He and department representatives are to meet tonight to discuss the study.

"Rather than add a couple of men, let's see where we are going," Usher urged. "There is an incompatibility in organizational relationship between paid firemen and volunteer firemen . . . One or the other has got to be in the driver's seat; that's what it boils down to."

Councilman Harold B. Wagstaff, agreeing that a study was necessary, predicted that "Corte Madera is going to be faced with a major disaster if we continue to maintain a volunteer image. We shouldn't dally too long with a volunteer fire department." Wagstaff is a member of the department.

Councilman Charles F. Pendleton agreed a study is needed, but argued that "volunteer organizations begin to deteriorate where there is a paid nucleus . . . I can't envision the type of fire our department couldn't cope with."

The councilmen agreed that Usher's study should project needs for equipment over the next five years. The 1967 budget for the fire department is $31,272, up $2,591 over the current year.

Allocation of sales tax money will be reviewed at the council's meeting next Tuesday.

The council approved plans and specifications for reconstruction of Conow Street. Bids will be opened July 18. A total of $12,000 is in the new budget for the project, including relocation of utilitiees.

Councilmen Holmes S. Norville and William W. Collier were absent.

Brothers Plead Guilty To Battling Officer

San Rafael brothers Harry and James Brogioli pleaded guilty in Marin Municipal Court yesterday to battery on a San Anselmo police sergeant April 8. They will be sentenced July 14.

A second charge, obstructing an officer in performance of his duties, was dismissed following the first plea.

The brothers, of 83 Woodland Avenue, assaulted Sgt. Don Nelson when he attempted to break up a quarrel between them at a bar at 300 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

Auto Story 'Made Up,' Police Told

The story of the "police impersonator" was all a tale, Donald D. Fisher told Mill Valley police last night.

He said he made up the story of a policeman helping him move the car of a friend last Thursday, because he accidentally damaged the car.

Fisher told police he was to take care of Aaron Chardon's dog while he was away and that he decided to fix a flat on Chardon's car parked at his home at 14 Elton Way.

When Fisher could not get the car started after fixing the tire, he rolled it down the hill. Later, when parking the car, he said, he forgot to set the emergency brake. The car rolled into a utility pole.

At that point he decided to invent the story that he moved the car because a "police officer" told him to do so since it was parked in the same spot over three days.

Chardon reported this to police, who said they had no officer involved in the episode. Fisher admitted he made it up after further questioning oy officers.

Spare, Rim Taken

Will S. Johnston told police yesterday a spare tire and rim, valued at $55, were stolen during the night from his Volkswagen, parked outside his home at 3 Riviera Place, San Rafael.

Duplicate Tax Correction To Be Asked Of Supervisors

The city-county services committee last night agreed to ask the Marin County Board of Supervisors for four actions toward correcting duplicate taxation of city residents.

The committee called on the supervisors to:

1. Reconsider its allowance of $39,000 as cities' share of the county structural fire protection charge, from payment of which city taxpayers would be exempt.

2. Give more equal treatment in charging for collection of city taxes.

3. Equalize court fine distribution.

4. Consider a county-wide service district for police protection.

Asst. county administrator John F. Barrows said the committee's recommendations will go to the Marin Council of Mayors and Councilmen tomorrow night and to supervisors on June 17 voted against allowing $99,000 for structural fire protection, by the county fire department to be levied only against residents outside cities and fire districts. It reduced the figure to $39,000.

The committee, Barrows said, noted that the county does not charge special districts for collection of their taxes, but does charge cities for the service.

The county-wide service area for police protection has been much debated along with an alternative suggestion for county rebate of money to cities which provide their own police protection.

It would take a change in state law to equalize the return to cities of fees and forfeitures collected by municipal court. Distribution is still based on a formula derived from costs of the old justice court operations in the cities.

Jensen Raps Junkets By City Workers

San Rafael City Councilman Fred E. Jensen last night criticized city employees for "taking free rides on public money" to conferences.

"I've had free rides too; I don't deny it," Jensen said at a council budget session, but "all these conferences and free vacations are getting to be a joke."

Jensen's objection came when he noted that the recreation department's proposed budget listed $1,000 for "training, conference and travel," including $400 for attendance at a national conference at Washington, D.C.

President of the Marin County Labor Council is James Smith.

State Scuttles Two-City Park On Peninsula

Plans for a joint Tiburon-Belvedere city park along Tiburon Boulevard went glimmering when the Tiburon City Council learned last night that the state would not lease the city its share of land.

The Tiburon council received a letter from the State Division of Highways saying the Tiburon strip between Northwestern Pacific tracks and the boulevard opposite Hilarita housing could not be leased because it was part of the state's "operating right of ways."

Belvedere has already leased state land on the other side of the tracks for a park.

The joint park proposal has been spearheaded by Mrs. Samuel J. Mann of 26 Lagoon Road, Belvedere. The Tiburon council last night commended Mrs. Mann for her efforts.

It then directed City Mgr. Lawrence D. Rose to tell the highway division to clean up the strip. It also referred zoning of the land to the planning commission.

Novato Convalescent Home Again Opposed

The Novato Planning Commission last night again denied Dr. Cecil H. Coggins' request for a permit for a convalescent hospital at 1931 Novato Boulevard, by a vote of 4-to-3.

Commissioners Robert G. Johnson, Patricia Beyer, Ross Dugan Jr. and Wayne Hathaway voted to deny the permit because the location was not considered suited to a hospital and the construction would have a adverse effect on adjacent property.

The commission earlier denied the request unanimously, but the city council referred it back for reconsideration on appeal. The matter will go before the council again July 12.

The commission approved Hector's Rubini's request for rezoning from residential to commercial for one parcel on Ignacio Boulevard near the Loma Verde development, but denied the rezoning for a second parcel.

Planning Director Robert Lagle said about 10 persons from Loma Verde opposed the zone change, but most of them were not opposed to the change for the single parcel.

Scottsdale Co. withdrew its request for rezoning from agricultural-residential to commercial of 22.6 acres on the east side of South Novato Boulevard on Rowland Boulevard.

The Novato Planning Commission also:

1. Approved city-initiated rezoning from agricultural to residential of all lots in the Stanford Oaks subdivision.

2. Approved Shell Oil Co.'s request for a permit for a service station at Highway 101 and De-Long Avenue, and continued to July 11 Gulf Oil Co.'s request for a gas station on another corner of the same intersection.

3. Continued to July 11 Joseph Horvath's request to add two units to a duplex at 1036 Third Street.

4. Set hearing on a city-initiated rezoning of Unit Two of the Castlewood Subdivision from agricultural to residential, for July 11.

Skid Hospitalizes San Franciscan

Two San Francisco men were injured, one seriously, when their sports car skidded off Shoreline Highway and overturned into Bolinas Lagoon at 8:45 p. m. yesterday.

Reported in fair condition today in Marin General Hospital with multiple cuts and bruises was the passenger, Lewis Peppars, 26. The driver, Timothy G. Rooney, 23, was treated for cuts and bruises.

Rooney told the California Highway Patrol that he was driving about 30 miles per hour when his car skidded off the curving road.

A citizen's complaint against Marvin A. Camden, 22, of 980-A San Anselmo Avenue, San Anselmo, alleging assault and malicious mischief in a San Rafael bar, was withdrawn yesterday at the district attorney's office.

Camden was arrested Sunday after Peter Pellolio, a bartender at the 881 Club at 881 Fourth Street complained following an incident when Camden refused to leave.

A police charge alleging Camden was drunk at the bar, however, was filed with the district attorney.

Tiburon Acts To Prevent Ark City On Tidelands

The Tiburon City Council last night acted quickly to prevent "the beginning of a Sausalito ark city" on its tidelands.

By unanimous vote, the council adopted an emergency ordinance requiring planning commission approval of any proposed tidelot development — approval not likely to come.

Kenneth Norberg and Warren Glass of Sausalito had made application to build a single-family residence on a 14-acre tidelot at the intersection of the salt works and oyster canals, near the Audubon Bird Sanctuary.

City Engineer Ray W. Foreaker told the council there was no city ordinance under which it cound prevent such development. The council immediately passed one.

The council's action "was not restricted to one applicant, but to the whole idea of tidelot development," Councilman Branwell D. Fanning said. "There are odds and ends all around the city that would fit into this," he said.

The new ordinance extends interim zoning to the tidelands, with development requiring a use permit.

The council also introduced an ordinance that would define the noise made by any musical instrument or sound amplification device heard beyond 50 feet from a bar as a public nuisance.

Councilman Thomas E. Drohan was absent.

The Tiburon City Council Also:

1. Changed the council's official meeting place to the city hall at 80 Main Street. Major John S. Hoffmire anticipated the move when he went to the city hall for last night's meeting. He was a few minutes late to the meeting at Del Mar School.

2. Set a public hearing for July 26 on an extension of the overall interim zoning ordinance.

3. Directed City Mgr. Lawrence D. Rose and City Engineer Foreaker to prepare a city policy governing development of "inland traffic flow" through neighborhood streets.

4. Adopted an ordinance similar to that of the county governing noise abatement procedures.

5. Approved the master plan of Tiburon Development Associates for the 38-unit Marinero Heights development at Marinero Circle.

Tiburon Researcher Joins Private Firm

J. Leslie Goodier, 45, of Fairfax, project leader with the Marin Mineral Technology Center, U.S. Bureau of Mines, Tiburon Net Depot, has resigned to take a job in private industry.

Goodier, the second man to join the center three years ago, said he will leave Thursday to become senior research engineer with United Aircraft Co.'s research laboratories in East Hartford, Conn.

Window Smashed

Trevet W. Glover of 50 Ash Avenue, San Anselmo, told San Rafael police yesterday that a $150 windshield in the van he drives for Southern Pacific Co. was smashed with a rock during the weekend, at 35 Jordan Street, San Rafael.

Trustees Do Away With Report Cards

Kentfield School District pupils in kindergarten through sixth grade will not be taking home the traditional report card next year.

The school board last night approved a recommendation by 12 parents and six teachers that the district abandon those quarterly sources of fear or delight for school children and substitute parent-teacher conferences.

Supt. Howard C. Harmon said the new system will be inaugurated in the fall. "I think the parent will now know a lot more about the child's capabilities than ever before," he declared.

Harmon said the district will hold sessions to train teachers in the techniques of conferences and train parents how to prepare for the conference and what questions to ask.

The closest thing to a report card, he said, will be a conference check sheet which the parent will mark during the meeting with the teacher.

Kentfield School District Board also:

1. Adopted a preliminary budget of $1,183,401. At the board's last meeting, Harmon's proposed budget stood at $1,173,974. He said there was an additional $10,000 year-end carryover because tax collections had been better than anticipated.

2. Set prices on old cabinets, lockers and workshop tables and instructed Harmon to try to sell them as surplus.

3. Accepted the resignation of Hank Yamagata, seventh and eighth grade physical education teacher, who has taken a job as coach at Terra Linda High School.

4. Hired Diane Ray to teach fourth grade for $7,182 a year, Florian McCune to teach third grade for $6,840, and Rosemarie Bellams to teach sixth grade for $8,664, all at Greenbrae School; and Joan Rubens to teach seventh grade at Adaline E. Kent school for $6,897.

Tourist Injured In Cable Mishap

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A tourist from Philadelphia was hospitalized with possible leg fractures today after he was thrown from the outside steps of a cable car which was struck by an automobile.

Harry Wiener, 50, underwent examination at Mount Zion Hospital for a possible fracture of the right leg.

Wiener and six other persons were injured as the cable car rumbled across the intersection of Powell and California Sts. yesterday. The car was struck broadside by an automobile driven by Ronald Ortega, 22, San Francisco.

Ortega was uninjured, and was not cited.

Breaks Arm

Alexandra Stagno, 82, fell and broke her arm at her home at 901 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, San Anselmo, yesterday afternoon, police reported. She was in fair condition today at Ross General Hospital.

Tiburon Planners Favor Downtown Plan Adoption

The Tiburon Planning Commission last night unanimously approved the Callister and Payne downtown sketch plan.

In approving the plan, the commission recommended a study to find out how much the proposed development would cost, Chairman Stephen H. Nash reported.

The plan calls for a waterfront "port of call" harbor, a small waterfront park near Mar West Street, relocation of Paradise Drive back from the waterfront, and a four-lane road along part of the railroad right of way.

It also foresees commercial and residential development in the present railroad yard area and small tourist-oriented shops on part of the waterfront.

The sketch plan now goes to the city council. Commissioners Peter MacGowan, John J. Berryman and Joseph C. Marshall are to help draft the commission report that Nash will present to the council.

Savings And Loan Firms Allowed To Hike Interest

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Home Loan Bank Board today authorized savings and loan associations throughout the country to pay up to 5 per cent interest on some types of time deposits.

The action followed by one day a move by the Federal Reserve Board to ease the interest rate war between commercial banks and savings and loan associations by placing moderate restrictions on certificates of deposit issued by banks.

Beginning July 1, the board said, savings and loan associations will be permitted to issue six-month savings certificates in minimum denomination of $1,000 at an annual dividend of 5 per cent without any loss in their right to borrow from the Home Loan Bank system.

Measure Of 'Real Spendable Pay' Shows Workers' Position Slipping

By PETER S. NAGAN
Advance News Service

WASHINGTON—Tucked away in a recent speech by the President's chief economic adviser was a figure that attracted little notice at the time, but which seems certain to assume importance in labor negotiations and in the measurement of inflation.

The figure cited by Gardner Ackley, chairman of the President's council of economic advisers, concerned "real spendable pay" of a typical worker in manufacturing. It is compiled monthly by the Bureau of Labor Statistics of the Department of Labor. And it reflects take-home pay after allowing for price changes, as well as deducting for tax, social security, and other withholdings.

Normally, real spendable pay rises steadily, as growing productivity brings higher wage rates. However, it has not been rising lately. In fact, as Ackley said this month, the average manufacturing employee's position has actually slipped a little.

Ackley compared the flat behavior of real wages with the 12 per cent increase in profits that industry showed in January-March. The contrast isn't likely to be lost on union leaders when bargaining time rolls around.

The BLS figures show that a worker in manufacturing, with three dependents, took home an average of $87.99 in March, the latest month for which statistics are available. That was down two dollars from the December peak and even a few cents below the $88.16 of March a year ago.

Labor economists find two explanations for this lack of growth in the worker's economic well-being:

The rise in the social security payroll tax that took effect Jan. 1, carved about 65 cents from weekly paychecks.

The increase in the cost of living has shrunk take-home pay by 2.8 per cent over the past 12 months, mainly because of higher food prices, but also because of costlier apparel, medical care, and other items.

Marin County Architects Get Award

Three Marin County architects were scheduled today to receive the nation's highest professional recognition for the part they played in designing Ghirardelli Square in San Francisco.

Theodore Bernardi and Donn Emmons, both of Sausalito, and Lawrence Halprin of Kentfield were instrumental in building the city project awarded the 1966 Award of Merit by the American Institute of Architects.

The prize was to be presented at a ceremony during the institute's 98th annual convention which opened yesterday in Denver, Colo.

Bernardi and Emmons are partners in the San Francisco firm of Wurster, Bernardi and Emmons, architects of the project. Halprin heads the landscape architectural firm of Lawrence Halprin and Associates in San Francisco.

The Ghirardelli Square undertaking was one of 12 selected for awards from among 380 entries by a jury of five architects.

The jury commented: "Its qualities of gaiety, liveliness and color make it a delightful addition to the San Francisco scene."

Company Expects $1 Million Year

LOS ANGELES—Shareholders of Reserve Oil and Gas Co. have been advised that the company's net income is expected to exceed $1 million in calendar year 1966 and that no federal income tax liability is anticipated after the date of the company's last merger on April 29.

The predicted net income includes the earnings on a pooling of interests basis of two companies merged into Reserve early this year — Apple Valley Building and Development Co. and Long Beach Dock and Terminal Co.

The 1966 net income estimate is not compared with 1965 figures because each of the three companies previously operated on a different fiscal year.

Foreign Tourists Not Balancing Dollar Loss

WASHINGTON (AP)—Foreigners are flocking to the United States in record numbers this year but it won't be enough to reverse or even improve the travel gap in the U.S. dollar drain.

The reason is all too simple: Americans are traveling abroad in record numbers and continuing to spend more money in other lands than foreigners spend here.

The U.S. Travel Service, a branch of the Commerce Department, said today that 379,366 foreigners—not including Canadians and Mexicans—came to the United States during the first five months of this year for business or pleasure trips.

This represented a 14.3 per cent increase over foreign visitors for the same period of 1965, an increase which Secretary of Commerce John T. Connor has called a tremendous upsurge.

The department reported yesterday that Americans traveling overseas totaled 2.62 million last year—18 per cent above 1964—and officials expect the total to rise even higher this year.

During the first three months of this year, the State Department issued or renewed 364,700 passports for travel abroad, 14.3 per cent above the same three-month period of 1965. And American tourists to Mexico and Canada, two favorite vacation spots, need no passports.

The travel service's only responsibility is to promote foreign travel to the United States —not to encourage Americans to travel in their own country. Officials say it's impossible to tell how large the travel deficit would be without the agency's efforts.

One official noted that since the service was established in 1961 the number of overseas visitors to the United States has doubled.

Last year, overseas visitors numbered 1.2 million and the travel service hopes to increase that this year by 15 per cent. All foreign visitors to the United States spent slightly less than $1.4 billion in this country or for transportation from their country via a U.S. air or ship line.

But while this was happening, Americans spent $3.1 billion in foreign countries or on transportation from the United States aboard foreign ship and air carriers. This meant a deficit of $1.74 billion—and officials expect this travel drain to total about $2 billion this year because of expanding American travel abroad.

Coach Faces Child Neglect Prosecution

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A Sacramento area high school track coach and his wife have been charged with felony child neglect for allegedly keeping their 13-year-old daughter living in an attic since last October.

Sheriff's detectives said the girl, Mary Rowe, told them her father, Richard Rowe, and stepmother, Patricia, let her leave the attic only to do chores, eat and go to school.

Mrs. Rowe is a speech teacher at El Camino High School, where her husband also works. They were arrested last night and each was released on $276 bail.

Officers said they began investigating the case when the girl went to a neighbor's home after being locked out of her house. Detectives said Mary's stepbrother, Teddy, 7, was treated normally.

Both children were taken to Sacramento Children's Receiving Home.

Sausalito Truck Gets Loose On Hill Road

A Sausalito man parked his 1966 Chevrolet pickup truck on the steep hill in front of his house at 606 Locust Road at about 8:30 p.m. yesterday. About three hours later he found the vehicle 50 feet down the road, on its top.

Police said that apparently the car, owned by Jack A. Lang, had slipped out of park gear or the emergency brake had released itself. Damage was termed "moderate."

Leibert Undergoes Surgery Second Time

Edmund T. Leibert, collection manager for the Independent-Journal, was listed in poor condition in the intensive care unit at Marin General Hospital today following surgery for a circulatory ailment.

Leibert, of 103 Van Winkle Drive, Sleepy Hollow, underwent a similar operation at the hospital a week ago.

TEEN-AGE GIRL PLUNGES INTO CIVIC AFFAIRS

"What this town needs is another swimming pool," 13-year-old Patricia Meier told the Mill Valley Parks and recreation Commission last night.

Miss Meier, who presented her proposal and a drawing in person, also suggested a bond issue to pay for the pool.

"We were happy she took such an interest," said commission Chairman Jerome C. Hauke today. Hauke also reported that Miss Meier seemed surprised there was such a small audience, she and Louisa Cagwin, a proponent of city steps and lanes, being the only citizens present at the planning commission meeting.

Mill Valley Steps Repair Given Nod

Mill Valley Parks and Recreation Commission last night approved a plan for improving 10 sets of disintegrating city steps and lanes.

By priority, the commission recommended that Bernard Street Steps be repaired first, then the Dipsea Trail Steps. The Barnard Street steps, closed more than a year, would be repaired as a summer youth work activity project. Cost is estimated at $600.

Plans for the 10 sets of lanes and steps, were proposed by City Planning Director Harvey E. Bragdon. The city council set aside $5,000 in the 1967 budget for the work.

The commission approved a diagrammatic plan for improvements to Boyle Park, by 5-to-2. Commissioners James Rutledge and Richard L. Parino voted "no," objecting to the treatment of baseball facilities. Commission Chairman Jerome C. Hauke said he will bring the subject up again at the July 11 meeting.

Bragdon reported developer Paul B. Fischer hopes to have the Mill Valley small craft harbor completed for use by a year from next month. The harbor will have about 300 slips, Bragdon reported.

Supervisors Favor Second Deck Again

Marin County supervisors again voted 3-2 today in favor of a second deck on the Golden Gate Bridge, with Supervisors Thomas T. Storer and Peter H. Behr again dissenting.

Reconsideration was asked by State Sen. John F. McCarthy, referring to a Senate resolution asking second deck delay until after the study.

Thomas D. Hardcastle of Novato, a member of the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District board, said McCarthy reversed himself from a stand a year ago in which he asked a resolution supporting a second deck. He said McCarthy appears to be making his quadrennial attack on the bridge board, as "he has received election on that basis."

Behr said the bridge board does not appear to be considering other alternatives but has gone right into cost and engineering studies for a second deck.

Hardcastle said such studies will take time and the bridge board will not be making any irrevokable decisions prior to the BATS study.

The actual vote was on a motion by Supervisor William A. Gnoss not to re-open discussion, but it came after a good deal of discussion was had.

Both Storer and Behr argued that endorsing a second deck prior to completion of a transportation study next year by the Bay Area Transportation Study Commission was "getting the cart before the horse."

Bad Diet Blamed For Birth Defects

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Dietary deficiencies can cause birth defects in animals.

Dr. Lucille S. Hurley nutritional biochemist at University of California, Davis, reported today on this phase of research in a talk to the 57th annual meeting of the American Home Economics Assn.

She said a research team had discovered that deficiencies of zinc or manganese caused birth defects in mammals, including cleft palate, fused ribs or fingers, eye disorders, and difficulties in balance or coordination.

More than 5,000 delegates from the 27,000-member home economics group were in San Francisco for the convention which runs through Friday. The first general session was held today.

The work will complete the installation of facilities at Drake's Beach and the north and south entrances of Point Reyes Beach.

Sanitary Board Grants Raises

A 5 per cent salary increase was granted to four employees of the Sausalito-Marin City Sanitary District last night.

The board adjourned its hearing on the proposed Waldo Point sewer assessment district to 8 p.m., July 18, since only three directors were present last night. It set Sept. 13 for election to fill three seats on the board. Terms of Cyril G. Hansen, Joseph Bell and William U. Remensperger are expiring.

Discussion of the 1967 budget was continued to July 25.

Underground Utility Lines Due Tiburon

Utility lines on Tiburon's Main Street will start going underground early next year.

Richard C. Conrad, Sourthern Marin district manager for Pacific Gas and Electric Co., told the Tiburon City Council last night his company would like to start trenching for placing the lines underground about the end of this year.

Mayor John S. Hoffmire directed that the council's public services committee meet with PG&E and Pacific Telephone Co. representatives to make sure both utility companies underground their lines on the same timetable.

Hoffmire complained that the telephone company is digging up Tiburon Boulevard near Reed School to add new lines without having informed the city, disrupting rush hour traffic. He asked City Atty. Robert I. Conn to investigate what power the city has to require notification by the companies.

Marin City Battery Trials Consolidated

Cases of Phillip Craig Scott, 19, and Edward Boon Green, 20, both charged with battery on officers in an April 4 Marin City riot, were consolidated today in Marin Superior Court. Judge Harold J. Haley scheduled jury trial Aug. 8.

Scott, of 50 Cole Drive, Marin City, is charged with two felony counts, battery on Sheriff's Deputy Charles T. Prandi and on Deputy Carl Tim Wiese. Green, 343 Drake Avenue, Marin City, is charged with battery on Deputy Fred Garrison.

Mill Valley Trustees Give Principal New Assignment

Dr. Glenn Skelton, principal of Mill Valley's Park School and part-time director of pupil personnel services, will become acting director of instructional and special services Friday.

In his new post, the Mill Valley School District board agreed last night, Skelton will be responsible for district-wide coordination of curriculum, teacher selection, and supervision of education of handicapped pupils.

Vice Principal Robert de Vilbiss will be relieved of his teaching duties to give Skelton time to accomplish his added tasks. Asst. Supt. Logan Miles will concentrate on experimental programs, in-service education of teachers, federal and state grants and supervision of libraries and the instructional materials center.

The Mill Valley School District board also:

1. Agreed to join the Sausalito School District in hiring Intra-public Counsel Inc., San Francisco, to prepare an application for federal funds to finance cost of consultants in connection with transfer of four volunteer classes of students to Richardson Bay School. Cost of $350 is to be split by the two districts.

2. Awarded a $24,823 contract to Gillig Brothers, Hayward, for replacing a school bus. A second bid of $25,113 was received from Crown Coach Corp., Los Angeles.

3. Approved a regulation allowing transfer of accumulated sick leave between districts.

4. Heard that Esther Hessel, Edna Maguire School vice principal, will be assigned as dean of girls, and Robert Peterson, dean of boys, will be vice principal.

5. Presented Mrs. Joyce Gross, board chairman for one year, with an orchid in appreciation of her leadership. A new chairman is to be elected July 5.

Candidate's Firm Is Sued For Wig Bill

Nearly $17,000 worth of wigs is cause of a damage suit filed in Marin Superior Court yesterday against William Penn Patrick, unsuccessful candidate for a California gubernatorial nomination this month, and his cosmetics firm of Holiday Magic Inc.

The Plaintiff, Majestic Electronics Co. doing business as Brentwood Imperial Wig Co., of Los Angeles, alleges that in February of 1964 they made an agreement to supply Holiday Cosmetics with $16,905.05 worth of wigs.

The wigs were delivered, but Holiday failed to pay the $16,960.05 due, along with 20 per cent of Holiday stock which was also a part of the agreement, the suit charges.

Majestic Electronics asks the $16,906.05 and the stock for damages, plus $100,000 punitive damages.

Parolee Jailed For Smuggling

Work furlough privileges for county prisoners don't include supplying drinks to jail inmates, so Peter Bruce Winston was back in a cell today.

The 19-year-old Winston, of 30 Novato Street, San Rafael, was granted work furlough while serving a six-month term for car theft.

But on Sunday, Patrolman Donald Merkley of San Rafael police saw Winston passing something through the window of the jail kitchen. The something, Merkley told jailers, looked very much like a bottle of whiskey.

Jailers searched the kitchen store room. There, sure enough, was the whiskey bottle — still full.

Smuggling liquor into jail is a felony.

The couple are living in San Francsico.

MARIN HOSTESSES are already smarting at the beginning of summer over the number of invited guests who simply didn't bother to reply to their party invitations. It's much worse than previous years, they say, and point out that often adults as well as teen-agers are the guilty ones. Others who are likely to be crossed off upcoming party lists are those who accept an invitation and then simply don't show up. "How can we order the food?" is the current complaint, and what to do with the leftovers has distressed more than one hostess of late . . .

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Talking Back To A Computer May Be Gratifying And Frustrating

DEAR HELEN:

Hey there, that was pretty cool, sassing a computer back in its own language, with computer cards.

Did the machine grind out an answer to your 30-card "letter?" —DOUG

DEAR DOUG:

Yup . . . The same darn bill I'd been getting for five months, with another "overdue credit charge" added!

Machines will no doubt rule the world someday—they don't waste time on sassy women.—H.

DEAR HELEN:

Several months ago I met one of the kindest and finest boys I've ever known. I grew to like him very much and so did my parents. But they stopped letting me see him when they learned he was making no attempt toward college. They realize everyone isn't college material, but tell me I must find a boy who is.

This fellow has a steady job but has the service before him. I will be entering college this fall.

I haven't dated much since I had to break up with him. When I told him about how my parents felt, he understood. I'm sure they are right, for now, but what about later? I'll have to go by my own feelings some day. Why shouldn't I feel this way about a plain, hard-working guy who may not have material wealth, but has so much more than money?

I can't stop hoping I'll see him again some day. Is this wrong?—CINDY

DEAR CINDY:

Of course it isn't wrong.

Nor are your parents wrong in wanting the best for their daughter. But sometimes parents don't know "best" (when they see him).—H.

DEAR HELEN:

I am 18, a boy. I have over $500 in the bank, and since I don't plan to go further in school right away, and don't want a car, I thought a motor scooter would be nice.

I'll be working this summer, and can replace the $200 a scooter would cost in a month.

My father says it is all right with him, but my mother flew off the handle and said definitely NO. She thinks a motor scooter is too dangerous. I say it is no more dangerous than walking across a busy street. I would never take it on a super highway, but just back and forth to work and maybe swimming—and they don't go all that fast.

What are your views, Helen? —HOPEFUL

DEAR HOPEFUL:

Very guarded. Let's just say that if you are as careful a driver as you indicate, I hope your father has the last word.—H.

DEAR HELEN:

During last summer's vacation I met this girl at a boat club where I kept my boat. We swam, boated, fished and had a great time, but I never got her last name.

Here's the problem: a big chain of stores bought up the land, and now I won't see her any more. I can't find out where she lives because I was too dumb to write down her name and address. How can you find a girl when all you know about her is that her first name is "Lane"?—SEARCHING

DEAR S.:

Ask everyone who belonged to your boat club—surely someone in the group will lead you to "Lane." All it takes is sleuthing. You'll see.—H.

No Sophisticated Studies On Value Of Pre-School Training

By PETER A. JANSSEN
National Service

WASHINGTON—It isn't fashionable here to have anything but praise for pre-school programs, but three prominent educators apparently haven't gotten the word.

Appearing before a congressional committee, they questioned whether attendance at nursery school or kindergarten has any long-range effect on a student's performance.

Pre-school classes are nice, the educators suggested, but their advantages may be lost in most school systems. For children of the poor, they added, overcrowded classes and vapid teachers in the first and second grades erase the gains of earlier schooling.

Committee members, noting that Congress has appropriated $100 million to operate Project Head Start for four-and five-year-olds just this summer, said they were sorry that they had not heard such warnings earlier.

R. Louis Bright, associate U.S. Commissioner of Education; Norman D. Kurland, director of the Center on Innovations in the New York State Department of Education, and John H. Martin, superintendent of schools in Mt. Vernon, N.Y., said that the major problem is that nobody has done national research into the value of pre-school training.

AT A HEARING of a joint subcommittee on economic progress investigating new educational tools, Martin, who started his teaching career in a rural, one-room schoolhouse, opened the attack.

"There's just no sophisticated study of the effects of nursery school. There's little perception about what contributions are made in each activity and the contribution of the whole product.

"We desperately need disciplined research. Some of the happy assumptions about nursery school are hopes rather than fact."

Martin suggsted that parents may be fooled more by the shadow than the substance of early education.

"IT'S ATTRACTIVE to the upper-middle class," he said. "It's the thing to do. But it's really helpful in providing the intellectual docility that is needed in a mass education system.

"I myself am thoroughly persuaded nursery schools are valuable, but I'm saying there is no documentation of their validity."

In most nursery schools and kindergartens, Martin said, "the child has 76 or 114 kinds of things to do. We have an Irish stew of playthings, toys and activities with no vigorous studies of what really matters."

When Martin ran down, Sen. William Proxmire (D-Wis.), acting subcommittee chairman, shook his head.

"That's amazing," Proxmire said. "I had no idea of the lack of research. You're saying we don't know which of these things are of value. That's really a serious indictment."

AS PROXMIRE GLOWERED, Bright, who is in charge of federal education research, started to enter a disclaimer but changed his mind.

"There's been a great deal of experimentation where performance is judged at the end of kindergarten," Bright said. "But you're right, there's been little study to see if the student who's had kindergarten maintains a performance change in say the third or sixth grade.

"In fact, there's been practically none. We're getting some results now from some surveys, but preliminary results tend to show that it doesn't make much difference what you do."

Proxmire suggested it was the U. S. Office of Education's job to conduct adequate research, and Martin said that most federal research so far has consisted of "remarkable stories about how the child looks happier."

Kurland added that "we can no longer take the schools' own version of how children are doing, how happy they are in school. We've got to see for ourselves."

Children's Art To Be Shown At Marin Fair

A new section has been added to this year's Marin Art and Garden Fair, "Realm of the Gods," opening Thursday and running through July 4. It is Children's Art-in-Action, under chairmanship of Jaki Albright and the Formative Years Training School summer staff.

This new fair section will feature panels on which children may express their creativity — clay for modelling and a backyard art junk project—small objects for which children can bring with them, such as bottle caps, shoes, marbles, etc.

The children's area will be adjacent to the Marin Humane Society, where live animals will be on display and can be used as living models, Miss Albright said.

Other creative activities being geared to small fry from 2 to 12 will include collage, graphic arts, block printing, silk screen, watercoloring, toothpick sculpture a la plaster, soda straw armatures, plaster carving, paper weaving and mixed media art.

Sinatra Case Closed Out By Amnesia

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) — Frederick R. Weisman is suffering retrograde amnesia and will not file a criminal complaint about a cocktail lounge disturbance involving Frank Sinatra, Weisman's lawyer says.

Weisman, 54, former president of Hunt Foods Inc., underwent cranial surgery after the June 8 disturbance and was released Saturday from Mt. Sinai Hospital.

Police interviewed Weisman earlier and Capt. John Hankins said the case was closed.

Sinatra told officers Weisman approached his party, and, after complaining of too much noise, struck Sinatra. No one returned the punch, Sinatra said, but Weisman fell across a table to the floor.

Cooper said Weisman remembers going to the cocktail lounge and recognizing Sinatra but has no memory of any other occurrence, not even approaching Sinatra's table.

Both California (615) and Texas (544) have more hospitals than New York (469), but New York has by far the largest number of hospital beds (227,528).

Anouilh Play To Be Staged Next Month

"Ring Round the Moon," a play by Jean Anouihl, will be presented July 29-31 and Aug. 5-7 by the Homestead Players at Brown's Hall, Mill Valley. Curtain time is 8:30 p.m.

The cast hails from southern Marin and San Francisco mainly, according to director Irene Pritzker.

Stuart Serman of Mill Valley plays Patrice; Jane Healey of Mill Valley, Lady India; Maggie Kelly of Mill Valley, Madame Desmortes, and William Kelly of Mill Valley, Romainville. Annemarie Chambers of San Rafael plays Capulet; Ernie Widlund of Corte Madera, Messerschmann; Robin Jackson of Mill Valley, Isabella, and Merle McDill of Kentfield, Isabelle's mother.

Steve Keeney, Earl Robertson and Marijane Craig, all of San Francisco, play the butler, Hugo and Frederick—a dual role — and Diana, respectively.

Opera Business Just One Continuous Crisis

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — "Opera has been in a crisis ever since it was invented," says Kurt Herbert Adler, general director of the San Francisco Opera. "Opera is crisis."

And Adler thrives on it. From his backstage office in the handsome War Memorial Opera House, he superintends the prestigious San Francisco Opera, the Spring Opera of San Francisco and a series of regional auditions and opera concerts for aspiring young American singers. He also recruits talent and negotiates with eight unions.

Adler is proud of all these activities but perhaps most of all the fact that the San Francisco Opera presents an adventurous repertory—and one that sells at the box office.

The opera was founded 43 years ago and since then has had only two directors, Gaetano Merola, who died in 1953, and Adler.

"We have had a consistent artistic policy and I'm glad to say it's by no means conservative," Adler said.

"Just some of our American premieres have been Poulenc's 'Dialogue Des Carmelites,' Britten's 'Midsummer Night's Dream' and Strauss' 'Die Frau Ohne Schatten.' We gave the stage premier of Honeggers's 'Joan Of Arc At The Stake.

This year, the opera is opening its season on Sept. 20 with Bellini's "I Puritani," with Joan Sutherland. Her husband, Richard Bonynge, will conduct. It will be the local premiere of the work.

But the major new events of the season will be the American premiere of "The Markopolus Case" by the Czech composer Leos Janacek, and the American stage premiere of Berlioz' "Les Troynes."

Turning again to the subject of crisis, Adler brought up the major problem of any opera company—finances.

"Our budget last year was well over $2 million," Adler said.

"Eighty per cent of our operating costs were covered by ticket receipts. The other 20 per cent comes from a city subsidy derived from the hotel tax, guarantees from regular series subscribers, a fund drive, and special donations."

Adler said the San Francisco Opera was instrumental in setting up a program with the Ford Foundation in behalf of American composers. If the San Francisco Opera decides to perform one such work, the foundation will share the production costs. Right now, Adler hopes to perform an American work in the 1967 season.

Sierra Club Argues Atom Plant Terms

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Members of the Sierra Club are urging their board of directors to re-consider an endorsement they made May 7 for the construction of a new Pacific Gas and Electric power plant at Buchon on the San Luis Obispo County coastline.

That site was suggested to PG&E by the Sierra Club after the conservation organization had objected to PG&E's original site at the Nipomo Dunes, 15 miles to the south.

The Sierra Club endorsement, made by a 9 to 1 vote of the directors, said that Point Buchon was a satisfactory site for a generating plant.

However, David Brower, executive director of the Sierra Club, said that club members who live in that area are opposed to a Point Buchon plant, contending that it is an area of grandeur and unspoiled beauty.

"There is evidence that we were given inadequate information in the first place about the scenic importance of Point Buchon," Brower said.

"It was described as ordinary pasture land and treeless. This we find is by no means true. The Point Buchon area is the last wild area of the Pacific Coast between Humboldt County and the Mexican border."

A spokesman for PG&E said the firm was considering other locations for the proposed plant including South Moss Landing in Monterey County, Collinsville in Solano County, and near Point Arena in Mendocino County. He said any plant built at the Point Buchon site would be a nuclear facility.

Students Fined Over Protests

REDWOOD CITY (AP) — Municipal Judge Lyle Edwards fined three college students $100 each for committing a public nuisance — trying to obstruct truck movements at the United Technology Corp.'s napalm plant. Each was fined $250 but $150 was suspended in each case. The judge also put the trio on probation for a year.

Fined were Aaron Manganiello, 23, suspended from the College of San Mateo; Miss Leith Speiden, 23, who said she attended Stanford University, and Alan Traister, 25, a Stanford student.

There will be no admission charge, according to James Adair, general chairman.

Preceding the fireworks will be a concert by the 35-piece Hamilton Air Force Base Band starting at 8 p.m.

Other July 4 festivities at Bel Marin Keys will include a water skiing exhibition from 10 a.m. to noon on the lagoons.

The Bal Marin Keys Yacht Club will present a "sail-a-bration" with small power boats and water skiers on parade from 10 a.m. to noon.

Decorated sailboats will be in parade from noon to 2 p.m. and power cruisers will go on parade at 2 p.m.

Motel Permit Up To Planners

A request for a permit for a 100-unit motel on Highway 101 near the Civic Center was referred without recommendation to the County Planning Commission yesterday by Zoning Administrator Thomas E. Cordill.

Plans for the development by Halsted and Co. of San Francisco include a cocktail lounge, coffee shop and banquet facilities on Las Gallinas Avenue between Merrydale Road and Tamalpais Avenue.

Cordill said the project's "proximity to Civic Center makes its design a matter of critical importance." He said the planning commission can act on both the use permit and the motel's design qualities when it meets July 11.

Neighbors' Objections Hit Elderly Housing Proposals

Some neighborhood resistance to proposed low-rent housing for the elderly in Homestead Valley developed at a zoning hearing at the Marin Civic Center yesterday.

Zoning Administrator Thomas E. Cordill postponed decision to July 18.

The Marin County Housing Authority has applied for a use permit to construct 30 apartment units on the west side of Linden Lane, between Evergreen and Montford Avenues. Executive Director Donald O. Stutsman said the apartments would be limited to individuals and couples — one of whom has to be 62 years or older—having a maximum gross income of $3,700 a year. Rents would be geared to 20 per cent of the occupant's income.

The housing director said there are 251 families in the Mill Valley area with qualifying low incomes. "There are 31 families," he said, "with incomes of less than $1,000 a year."

There was no objection at the hearing before zoning administrator Cordill to the purpose and policy of the housing authority.

However, Mary Greyerbiehl of 20 Montford Avenue objected to the location on the grounds that it would increase traffic on heavily traveled Montford and that the traffic there would be a hazard to the elderly.

Stutsman said private development would put more cars on Montford than would the project.

John Gegg of 471 Molino Avenue, Mill Valley, objected that multiple dwelling units on Linden Lane would be an encroachment on single residential zoning.

Charles E. Mott of 50 Montford Road, whose property adjoins the project site, said he didn't want two-story buildings next door.

Architect John Campbell, of the firm of Campbell and Wong, project designers, said the buildings would be "not one inch higher" than any two-story private residence for which the property is zoned.

Rented Sailboat Sinks, 6 Saved

Six San Franciscans were dunked into the bay Saturday afternoon when their rented 19-foot sailing sloop capsized east of Angel Island.

The occupants, in the water for 30 minutes, were picked up by people in another sailboat.

The boat, owned by Cass Gidley of Cass Gidley Sailboat Rentals, Sausalito, sank. Gidley estimated his loss at $3,500.

The boat owner said that Andrew J. Kirk, who rented and skippered the vessel, evidently had a "knock-down" when the main sheet fouled. The Coast Guard attempted to rescue the boat, but it sank.

Three other sailboats reportedly capsized on the bay the same day with all occupants and boats saved.

State Calls Bids For Road Project

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—The state division of highways has called for bids for resurfacing about 34 miles of highway in Marin, Sonoma and Contra Costa counties.

The Marin County portion of the work will be on Route 1, between Route 101 and about two miles south of Stinson Beach.

Bids for the whole project will be opened in Sacramento Aug. 3, with $280,000 available.

TELEVISION REVIEW

New Soap Opera Makes Gothic Try

By RICK D UBROW

HOLLYWOO D (UPI) — "Dark Shadows" is the name of a new, half-hour daytime suspenss series which premiered yesterday on ABC-TV, and which the network describes as "styled in the tradition of the classic Gothic novel."

The story, which obviously is trying to emulate the romantic as well as suspenseful effects of such works as "Wuthering Heights" and "Jane Eyre," revolves around a young lady who leaves New York to become governess to a 10-year-old boy in a mysterious house in a Maine fishing village.

The mistress of the strange house, and the star of the series, is veteran actress Joan Bennett, who is obviously well equipped to handle such a role, but had little to do in the premiere.

One of the reasons it is worth going into these details of this show, which is somewhat less than Gothic in achievement, is that the recent outburst of announced drama specials for television—because of the success of CBS-TV's "Death of a Salesman"—is overflowing into daytime programming of the future.

For example, an NBC-TV executive confirmed the other day that the network is planning to run series based on famous classic romances of the novel form, such as "Wuthering Heights" and Jane Eyre." These daytime efforts apparently would be produced by David Susskind, who also now has a corner on the prime time drama special market.

It is also fair to assume that the recent spate of films using such accomplished stars as Bette Davis in mystery-suspense stories —and with good boxoffice success —has motivated "Dark Shadows" somewhat, and probably has some bearing on what appears to be a small trend.

One of the chief problems of "Dark Shadows" is that it is ancient in tone, and is merely another foro of soap opera in its approach. The soap opera is an honorable form of broadcasting, in that it gives actors a chance ho keep working at their profession, and to learn technics of the trade if they are young, and does the same for neophyte video writers too. But in this particular case the soap opera approach does little to dignify the "classic gothic" attempt.

The show has waves breaking on rocks, train whistles in the night, trembling violins and every other hoary film trick to signify suspense —so much so that it seems like unintentional high camp. One almost expects to see two lovers kiss, followed by a shot of a stallion on a hill with a flash of symbolic lightning in the background.

You can have raging seas and shadowy cliffs and moonlit coasts, but a fine script and sharply-directed performers are even better at setting moods. At present, "Dark Shadows," particularly because of its New England setting, would seem to be better titled "Son of Peyton Place."

Furthermore, the landslide of commercials during yesterday's premiere, cumulatively assassinating the "romance suspense" attempts with their offensively phony good cheer, tended to make the debut a mystery indeed. One sometimes got the feeling that a chief character was a simpering mother who asked a librarian about cavities.

Teen-Ager Sentenced For Motorcycle Theft

Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court yesterday sentenced Thomas Haskell Thompson Jr., 18, to California Youth Authority for car and motorcycle theft.

Thompson, of San Francisco and Corte Madera, took the car from Shirley Cummensky in Sausalito on May 17. He stole the motorcycle, owned by Parky C. Stephenson, 2 Ardmore Avenue, Larkspur, on March 28.

Church Gets Into Abortion Drive

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A full-time ministry in the field of therapeutic abortion reform has been taken by an Episcopal priest.

The Episcopal Diocese of California announced yesterday that the Rev. Lester Kinsolving, vicar of the Church of the Holy Spirit in Salinas, will take charge on July 11 of the newly established Northern California office of the California Committee on Therapeutic Abortion, in San Francisco.

The committee is trying to effect change in the state abortion laws to make it possible for doctors legally to perform therapeutic abortions. These would be performed for certain causes such as rape, incest or grave impairment to the health of the mother.

German To Succeed French NATO Officer

PARIS (AP)—Gen. J.A. Graf Kielmansegg of West Germany today was named commander in chief of Allied forces in central Europe, replacing Gen. J.A. Em Crepin of France.

Hotel-Motel Tax To Be On Novato Agenda

The Novato City Council will hold a public hearing on a proposed hotel-motel tax to help pay Chamber of Commerce expenses at its meeting at 8 p.m. today at the City Hall.

The proposed 4 per cent tax would bring in about $900 a year, according to city officials. The city's appropriation to the chamber this year was $8,000.

Public hearings will be held also on rezoning from residential to commercial of the northwest corner of Diablo Avenue and Novato Boulevard, for Stan Goldsmith of Stan's Sport Shop, and the northeast corner of Seventh Street and Novato Boulevard, requested by Constantine Guisti.

The final map for the seven-acre Westwood Park subdivision, adjacent to the Marin Golf and Country Club, will be presented.

The council will consider a Loma Verde request to eliminate a school site shown in the Loma Verde master plan, and will hear traffic control recommendations from the council-appointed traffic committee.

A proposal for a tiny tot park at Railroad and Olive streets, sponsored jointly by the Novato Rotary Club, Novato Sanitary District and the city, will be presented.

The council will also consider an ordinance requiring developers to donate land or money for recreation, and an agreement for the city to buy a half-acre for a ball park near Rancho School from Joseph Glicksberg for $22,000.

Hub Council Due Street Proposals

San Anselmo City Council, meeting at 8 p.m. today in City Hall, will consider plans for the widening of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, including a proposal that San Anselmo Avenue be made one-way in two directions in the downtown area.

Councilmen will receive a letter from the City of Mill Valley, asking that they endorse legislation to exclude city taxpayers from taxes for county services not benefiting the cities.

The council is scheduled to adopt the city's budget for fiscal 1967 and consider a resolution opposing a post office edict requiring curbside mailboxes in new subdivisions.

Carl R. Sears Named Captain

Lt. Carl R. Sears, 40-year-old commander of the sheriff's patrol division, has been promoted to captain, effective immediately, by Sheriff Louis P. Montanos announced yesterday.

Sears joined the department Nov. 1, 1951. He became a lieutenant Jan. 1, 1963, after serving as an inspector. He fills a captaincy vacated by promotion of Sidney Stinson to undersheriff.

Sheriff Mountanos said an open, state-wide examination will be given to fill the vacancy of lieutenant. Salary range is $790 to $960 a month.

Kite-Fliers Select Champ Among Selves

Reyes Mendoza of Bolinas won the prize Sunday for kite-flying at Kite Day held on Bolinas Mesa near Overlook Drive.

The winner was selected by a vote of the 20 entrants, reported John Barrow, initiator of the special day. The stipulation for the prize winner was that he be under 15 years of age and must build and fly his own kite.

Brown Makes Hay Out Of Income Hike

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Californians earned more money than ever before during the first quarter of 1966 — and Gov. Edmund G. Brown lost no time in taking credit for it.

A report from the department of finance showed first quarter income in California showed a gain of $5.5 billion from the same period of a year ago — "by far the greatest income growth in the history of California," according to Brown.

Brown said the relative gain was about 20 per cent higher than for the nation as a whole.

While the quarter showed the greatest increases in income, it also was the first time the figures ever had been used as a campaign statement by the governor.

"Take a look at Mr. Reagan's campaign statements alleging economic stagnation in California and decide who's telling the truth about California's economy now," Brown said. "The very first issue Mr. Reagan singled out in his carefully rehearsed but poorly researched announcement of candidacy was California's economic health.

"He spoke of ominous 'cracks appearing in our economy,' and he has been harping on this ever since," he said. "He has talked repeatedly about a 'bad business climate'," Brown said. "He has distorted the facts about California's ability to attract new business, and he has spoken about a 'shaky' farm economy."

Brown said reports showed personal income for the quarter was at an annual rate of $62.6 billion, up $5.5 billion from a year ago. Wage and salary payments at $43.2 billion were up $4.6 billion. Manufacturing payrolls climbed 15.1 per cent while proprietors' income in agriculture was up 30 per cent, the governor said.

Youngsters Blamed In Park Vandalism

Cases of vandalism in Sun Valley Park in San Rafael have been reported to police by groundsman Harold F. Lawrence.

He said he believed juveniles were responsible for setting two fires in the restrooms which caused minor damage Saturday. Trash barrels were also overturned and their contents strewn about the grounds.

New Group Takes Over Marin Development Job

When the new Marin County Chamber of Commerce is officially launched in a month or two and the Marin Development Assn. bows out, a new chapter will be written in the history of Marin's development.

The Marin Development Assn. traces its origin to the Payroll Development Committee of the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce, founded nearly two decades ago. The committee expanded to the point where it decided to become an independent organization.

Carroll Snyker, who has been the executive manager of the Marin Development Assn. since its inception on Oct. 3, 1954, has done a remarkable job. He has been the only full time executive manager.

The vital role that Snyker and the association have played in Marin's growth can be seen in the many industrial and commercial establishments that have been attracted to Marin County.

Among them is Fairchild Semiconductor, which in turn attracted, with the help of the Development Assn., several satellite companies manufacturing electronic components used by Fairchild.

The Development Assn. also played a big role in getting the oceanographic research factilities established at the old Tiburon Naval Net Depot site.

McGraw Hill Book Co. is another firm that was attracted to Marin, first in Corte Madera and then in greatly expanded facilities in Novato.

There have been countless others—Shades Inc. of Sausalito, Kimball Manufacturing in San Rafael, and a series of shopping centers throughout the county.

Snyker and the Marin Development Assn. took one of the leading roles in the current attempt to get a University of California campus in Marin. This project will continue under the leadership of the new Marin County Chamber of Commerce.

When the Development Assn. goes out of existence, Snyker, as manager of the new county chamber, will provide the continuity.

While we regret the passing of the Marin Development Assn., we are confident that the new County Chamber of Commerce will carry on the role of attracting new businesses with the same effectiveness as the Development Assn. at its best.

At the same time, we look to the County Chamber to coordinate the traditional activities of chambers of commerce countywide. In this role, the County Chamber is off to a good start, with nearly solid backing from local chambers of commerce in various cities and communities.

COSTLY ERROR FOR HOUSE OWNER

A landlord in Omaha, Neb., made one oversight when he converted his apartment house from oil to gas heat. But it was a costly one.

The owner never got around to removing the fuel intake pipe sticking out of the basement wall.

One evening an oil truck mistakenly stopped in front of his house. Before the harried owner could stop him, the driver poured 82 gallons of fuel oil into the basement.

A crew from the oil company was dispatched to clean up. But meanwhile the fuel leaked into the gas furnace and caught fire. Damage was estimated at $20,000.

No amount of regrets after the fact can completely undo the harm caused by a single mistake. The river of life does not run backward.

You can count on God to help you examine from all sides the whys and wherefores of any big step you contemplate.

By taking a little extra time now to look things over, you can save a lot of grief for self and others.

"Look to yourselves, that you may not lose what you have worked for." (2 John 1:8)

Let me stop and look before I act, O Lord.

Brown To Use Same Strategy Which Helped Defeat Goldwater

By EDWIN S. CAPPS

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—Gov. Edmund G. Brown, in his first news conference since the primary election, has given a pretty good indication of how he intends to campaign against Ronald Reagan in the fall election. Without a score card, you might think it was 1964.

Brown says he will use the same charges against Reagan, who supported Sen. Barry M. Goldwater in 1964, that were used so successfully against the senator.

REAGAN APPARENTLY is aware of this and said in Sacramento a day earlier that Brown should remember this is 1966, not 1964.

In his news conference, Brown was asked to comment on his presently dismal showing in opinion polls. Brown said he didn't believe the voters really knew what kind of a man they were voting for because of Reagan's excellent public relations.

"I think that the public relations staff of Mr. Reagan has been infinitely superior to mine during the primary campaign," said Brown.

The governor's staff, of course, is essentially the same one that carried him through to victory in 1958 and 1962.

"Mr. Reagan would wreck the social security system by making it voluntary, he has opposed medical care all over the United States, he is against the civil rights legislation, he has had serious doubts about compulsory public education," Brown said. "And when these things are made known, I think this difference that now exists (in the polls) will certainly be changed."

THE GOVERNOR may have a harder selling job on these charges than was the case in 1964. He is facing a different candidate, to be sure.

For one thing, Reagan already has answered most of these charges in considerable detail during the primary campaign — perhaps not to the satisfaction of all. As for the charge on compulsory education, Brown is slightly off base. In his earlier education policy statement, Reagan said he was against compulsory unification of school districts—not against public education.

For another thing, the Republican nominee announced a couple of days ago that he did not want any outsiders coming in to help him during the campaign. Reagan referred to Goldwater and Richard M. Nixon specifically as among those from whom he would not seek campaign help in the coming election.

On the matter of subjects that might become issues against him, Brown said he expected the Republicans to try to make political issues out of his action in opening the legislative session to anti-riot legislation.

Brown said the Republicans also might try to use the state of uproar at the Berkeley campus of the University of California as a political issue. He insisted the GOP would find the people simply would not buy these issues.

Otherwise, the governor was cautiously optimistic, as might be expected. He has suffered his ups and downs in the popularity polls before and always has made the come back when it counted. And Brown noted that Reagan is no further ahead of him in the polls now than Pierre Salinger was ahead of Sen. George Murphy two years ago at this time of the year.

Defeated Candidate Values Experience

Editor, Independent-Journal:

In spite of the disappointment of Election Day, I would not trade in the experience of this 1966 Assembly campaign. It was an education in itself and gratifying in many ways. I also consider it to be preparation for the future. Dixie and I are grateful for the support we received from many quarters.

I want to thank you especially for the generous time you gave to our meeting and the endorsement of your newspaper, which I consider most valuable.

Editor, Independent-Journal:

In answer to the letter of Mrs. A. Robello and Mr. and Mrs. D. T. Fyfe, who are concerned about the location of the San Rafael graduation, I would like to point out that the graduation class of the University of California at Berkeley in 1948 found nothing unusual in attending our graduation on a football field.

We also were able to listen to our guest speaker who apparently found the site appropriate—Harry S. Truman.

Here Are Facts On Rising Taxes

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Here are some interesting facts regarding the skyrocketing property taxes which are stifling the growth of Marin County.

The recent reassessment in this area has increased the valuation of some vacant lots in Fairfax as much as 1,000 per cent and vacant land outside of the city limits as much as 500 per cent, possibly more.

There were 2,100 registered voters in Fairfax in 1956 and a city budget of $125,000. This increased to $220,000. In '64 with 2,794 voters it jumped to $307,000. And in '66 with 3,140 voters to $392,000.

With a population increase of barely 50 per cent, we have a cost increase of over 300 per cent in 10 years. This year's budget will be considerably higher.

In 1942 I bought a five-room house on Canyon Road, San Anselmo. The combined city and county taxes on this property in '42 were $53.90; in '43, $49.23; in '44, $54.58; in '45, $60.61. This house shows no apparent improvements or additions but its assessed value is now $3,800, which means that the present owner will pay approximately $400 taxes this coming year. How many Marin homeowners have had their net income increased by this percentage in the last 20 years.

Let us look at a startling contrast.

The Ross Valley Sanitary District 10 years ago had a tax rate of approximately 34 cents which included bond interest and payments. These bonds have all been paid off and their present tax rate is 14 CENTS, and they will probable reduce it to 12 cents for the coming year.

If they can do it, why can't other cities and districts do it?

Go-Round Again With Dead Dog

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Today I was a part of the most disgraceful happening of my life. A friendly little Basset hound was hit and killed in front of our house. We couldn't let the poor animal lie there, so we called the Humane Society. . .

The Humane Society said they could not come out and pick up the dog because they were closed. They said after five o'clock only emergencies warranted their service. They don't pick up dead dogs. What kind of a Society is this? Is this not an emergency? What are you supposed to do, let the poor thing lay there and rot?

The next thing we thought to do was call the Department of Public Works. They told us to call the local police department. That was the final step.

The police said they don't pick up dead animals either. They advised us that the street sweeper would pick him up after midnight. The accident was at 6:30 p.m. They don't leave people lying in the street do they? Then why a dog? He had a life that he lost, and a heart that beat. Just like any human.

Cancer Society Fund Improves

Editor, Independent-Journal:

In May 1964 this was the caption on a "Letter to the Editor" — "Cancer Society Having a Bad Year!"

The residents of Marin County responded to our request so that we were able to meet our quota.

Again, this year, we proudly report that with your assistance and the help of the hard working Cancer Crusade Volunteers, we have exceeded our quota. Marin County residents have contributed $50,000, which will make possible expanded service and public education programs in the County, as well as funds to insure continuance of our nationwide research projects.

Our sincere thanks to everyone who is making the work of the American Cancer Society possible.

Parallel Parking Idea Is Wrong

Editor, Independent-Journal:

A few so-called experts in San Rafael don't like diagonal parking on Fourth Street, so they want to force parallel parking on the rest of us.

Most of the people I have talked to think we should keep diagonal parking. Here are some of the reasons why:

1. Loss of parking spaces.
2. Loss of the women shoppers. Women don't like parallel parking.
3. It will cost a lot of money to move the parking meters and repaint the street. Repaving would also be expensive.

It's about time the City Council does things that the majority of the people want.

DID YOU know that croaking is not the only noise a raven makes? When mating, Pete Howe solemnly avers, the raven is wont to CHUCKLE from time to time. Also, when flying during the courting season, ravens touch wing tips, like a boy and girl holding hands.

Still on the subject of romance, Pete notes that when a Zulu warrior receives a necklace of green beads from his girl, she's saying "I love you." Red beads, however, means she's in a snit with him, and a yellow bead necklace is equivalent to a "Good-by Charlie: The party's over."

DeGaulle Unlikely To Find Key To Ending World's Discontent

WASHINGTON (AP) — French President Charles De Gaulle symbolizes the discontent of many with the world as it is and their yearnings to alter its bleak condition.

BUT IT IS doubtful he will find a solution.

He is sensitive to Europe's mood of frustration with 21 years of cold war, and he shares it. He is restless enough and has character enough to try to do something about it.

In this spirit he has gone to Russia, where he was gracious and the Russians received him warmly. But his trip so far has revealed nothing more than an attempt to conduct foreign policy by socializing.

This is hardly new and his foreign minister, Maurice Couve de Murville, said before De Gaulle took off there would be no political settlements.

His trip at most is a try at ventilating old antagonisms and attitudes and raising the shade on some new possibilities of good will and cooperation. None of these changes seems close.

IF IN TIME they happen, provided they are not simply a restoration of the old-style free-wheeling and homicidal nations which brought on two world wars, De Gaulle will have made a contribution.

But his contribution will be only as one of the many agents of change loose now. He can nudge change but he can't compel it because France, no longer a No. One power, can't compel it.

In seeking to be the messenger of a new day in Europe, De Gaulle suffers from some handicaps which smell of the past. His intense nationalism is obsessed with restoring the ancient grandeur and prestige of France.

The result is confusion. Because of his nationalism, he is under a compulsion to stand alone while he seeks a new harmony and cooperation. Thus, in him, nationalism butts heads with realism.

LIKE FRANCE, he is listened to, but he is not dominant and in trying to be he may yet produce some shattering results, not constructive as he wishes but the other way around. He has done a little of it already.

Irked by the restraints and requirement of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization — and by America's dominant role in it—De Gaulle all but pulled France out of it, badly damaging it.

It can never be the same without France in its military structure.

Yet, without NATO and its umbrella of American protection, France could not stand 10 minutes against a surging Russia if its present rather placid mood turned suddenly aggresive.

Nevertheless, De Gaulle, while pledging loyalty to the West, wishes France free of NATO.

This is to have it both ways: To try to be free and independent while being totally dependent on others for the ultimate protection.

HISTORY MAY show he was a bit ahead of his time, that there were vision and value in his single-handed, even brutal, attempt as with NATO to make the West realize painfully that changing times needed new conditions.

But, as of now, he gives the impression of a man trying to open a safe without being sure of the combination.

Bunker Is Choice For Lodge's Job

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON—A new U.S. ambassador is slated for Saigon. Ellsworth Bunker is the choice. A career diplomat with considerable experience in Southeast Asia, he is currently this country's member on the peace commission of the Organization of American States in the Dominican Republic.

In that capacity Bunker is credited as playing a key role in arranging and holding the recent peaceful election there.

AMBASSADOR HENRY CABOT LODGE has signified the desire to relinquish his thorny Saigon post—but not until after the scheduled September election. This raises a backstage timing problem.

Secretary Rusk, who recommended Bunker for Saigon, wants him to take over before the election. Rusk feels Bunker is particularly qualified to cope with election difficulties, and to bring rival South Viet Nam factions together to form a new civilian government.

IF THE 1960 Republican vice presidential candidate insists on staying, he will have his way. While President Johnson thinks highly of Bunker and has approved his replacing Lodge, no move will be made to ease the latter out until he's ready to go.

Lodge is warmly esteemed by the President — in contrast to a less appreciative State Department attitude.

President Johnson has a spectacular card up his sleeve with which he will attempt to trump President De Gaulle's ace in snuggling up to Russia.

In a forthcoming address the President will announce that the U.S. is prepared to sell satellite communications equipment to Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Poland, Romania and Bulgaria. The extraordinary offer will include both transmitting and receiving stations.

STILL UNDECIDED is whether to give the five Iron Curtain countries long-term credits to finance the purchase of this space communications equipment.

That is favored in a position paper prepared for the President by foreign policy advisers. They stress that the basic aim of the plan is to counter a likely Soviet-French move to establish a satellite communications system and link all these countries with it.

White House insiders indicate the President had not intended to make his proposal until next year. But Russo-French developments have pushed it ahead.

REPR. VERNON THOMSON, R-Wis., is finally making some tangible headway in his long fight to curb waste and extravagance in foreign economic aid.

Without fanfare, the House Foreign Affairs Committee, of which he is a member, has approved his amendment empowering the inspector general of the foreign aid program to directly obtain and scrutinize all reports on abuses in such spending. The committee included this significant amendment in the $3.38 billion foreign aid authorization bill.

Two years ago the former Wisconsin governor offered an amendment giving the inspector general jurisdiction over foreign aid investigators. Thomson pointed out, "This would bring to the attention of the inspector general more promptly reports of misuse, extravagance and inefficient administration of aid money. It would also remove investigators from control of ambassadors and the delays inherent to diplomacy and protocol."

BUT THOMSON'S proposal was rejected under strenuous White House pressure.

The same fate befell another Thomson amendment to bar foreign aid to countries that had used it to buy unauthorized and luxury items, such as eye-shadow, lipstick, white sidewall tires and a form of sex stimulant.

Today is Tuesday, June 28, the 179th day of 1966 with 186 to follow.

The moon is between its quarter and full phase; the morning stars are Venus and Saturn; the evening star is Mercury.

American composer Richard Rodgers of "Rodgers and Hammerstein" fame was born on this day in 1902.

On this day in history:

In 1894, Congress made Labor Day a holiday for federal employes, designating the first Monday in September to be the day observed.

In 1914, a young Serbian assassinated the heir to the throne of Austria-Hungary Archduke Francis Ferdinand and his wife, to touch off World War I.

In 1919, the Treaty of Versailles was signed in France ending World War I.

In 1945, Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced the reconquest of Luzon in the Philippines.

A thought for the day — American humorist Will Rogers said: "Everything is funny as long as it is happening to somebody else."

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Women Often Dominate Play In Championship Mixed Pairs

The best men are so nearly equal in skill that a mixed pair tournament is usually dominated by the best women.

This was certainly the case in the recent World Mixed Pair Championship in Amsterdam, won by Mrs. Mary Jane Farell and Ivan Erdos, of the United States.

Opening lead — ◇ 5

When Mrs. Farell encountered the hand shown today she made an overtrick with the greatest of ease.

Other women who played the North-South cards at four spades found it just as easy to lose the contract.

HOW IT WORKED

Mrs. Farell won the first trick with the king of diamonds and saw no reason to play the trumps at once. Instead, she led dummy's ace of hearts.

When no high heart appeared, it cost nothing to lead another heart.

West won a trick containing the king, queen and jack of hearts and returned another diamond to dummy's ace.

TIME TO COUNT

By this time it was clear that West had started with at least five red cards and six or seven clubs for the overcall.

There was room in the West hand for only two trumps at most, and it was quite possible that West had fewer than two trumps.

Mrs. Farell therefore led to the seven of spades from dummy and let it ride as a finesse.

It won the trick, and Mrs. Farell took the ace of trumps and led hearts until East took his trump.

She lost only one trump and one heart.

At several tables declarer's first move was to lead out the ace of trumps and a low trump.

East took two trump tricks and returned a club to use up dummy's last trump.

Now when West got in with the king of hearts he could take the setting trick with the ace of clubs.

ANSWER: Bid one notrump.

Despite your 10 points in high cards you should not bid two diamonds.

The diamond suit is very weak, and you have only ½ Quick Trick.

Avoid making a strong response when you have a weak hand.

SIGNS A-SPROUTING—Real Estate "For Sale" signs spring up on Allyn Avenue, San Anselmo. (Independent-Journal photo)

For Sale Signs Grow On Marin Front Yards

By PAT PERRY

"For Sale" signs are starting to appear on the front lawns of homes for sale in Marin County — the first time there's been any appreciable number of such signs in three decades.

Last month the Marin County Real Estate Board got a figurative slap on the hands from the National Assn. of Real Estate Boards for banning "For Sale" signs on homes for which members were agents.

The slap came in a ruling from the national group which said that "any board rule prohibiting the posting of 'For Sale' or other similar signs on property for which the member is the agent is an inequitable limitation on its membership."

Since 1938 the Marin County Real Estate Board has had just such a rule. In the words of Daniel F. Deedy, executive manager, the board "has by self determination severely restricted the use of signs since 1938."

Contrary to public impression hardly any Marin cities have ordinances banning "For Sale" signs. Only the town of Ross bans them. Others, like San Rafael, Novato, Mill Valley, Tiburon and Marin County simply limit the size of signs. It's the county real estate board that has always banned the signs. The organization represents about 96 per cent of the licensed real estate salesmen an brokers in the county.

In the city of San Rafael signs "may not exceed four square feet in area which advertise the sale, rental or lease of the premises upon which said signs are located."

In Novato, the ordinance says the sign may not exceed six square feet. Last week the Mill Valley City Council introduced an ordinance which restricts the signs to 12 by 18 inches.

The town of Ross has a completely restrictive ordinance which even bans "For Sale" signs erected by home owners.

Deedy says it's still too early to tell whether lifting of the restriction will mean a great increase in front yard signs — "but already you can ride through some areas and see several."

Now the real estate board's members will be allowed to place signs on property, but only after there's an official listing, and the size will be limited to two feet by two feet — unless a local ordinance differs.

Realty men don't like "For Sale" signs in front yards of homes, explained Deedy, "because if you have several of these signs in one street it's a deterrent to prospective buyers. They can downgrade an area."

Man Found Guilty Of Concealing Gun

Oris Williams, 29, was found guilty in Marin Superior Court yesterday of carrying a concealed weapon while having a prior felony conviction. Judge Samuel W. Gardiner will pronounce sentence July 18.

Williams, of 103 Drake Avenue, Marin City, had waived trial by jury. He had a revolver in his possession Jan. 21 when sheriff's officers were called to his home to investigate a disturbance.

Coed Follows Sisters In Travel To Other Nations

A 16-year-old San Anselmo girl will add to a growing tradition in her family tomorrow when she flies to Mexico City for an eight-week Youth for Understanding program.

Frances Kuizenga, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Henry Kuizenga, 70 Oak Knoll Drive, has three sisters, two of whom already have participated in the Youth for Understanding program in Europe. Hendrika, 21, spent a summer in Germany four years ago, and Elizabeth, 18, was in the Netherlands last summer. Katrina, 13, is next on the Kuizenga family travel roster.

Frances, a junior at Sir Francis Drake High School, is among 128 junior and senior high school students from the United States going to Mexico for the study and recreational program.

Dr. Kuizenga teaches English Bible at San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo.

Tiburon Center Due New Office

A former Navy mess hall will be converted into office space to consolidate clerical facilities at the Mining and Mineral Technology Center at Tiburon.

Rep. Don H. Clausen, R-First District, said today the Department of Interior, Bureau of Mines, will award a $45,102 contract to Herrero, Inc., of San Francisco for the conversion.

This is the first contract of any large size awarded to the center to increase office space, although several smaller ones have been used to bring buildings up to standard.

Mays Passes Williams... Foxx Next... Then Ruth

By MIKE RECHT

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Willie Mays was not trying to get past anybody, but he moved fast enough last night to catch Bob Gibson and overtake Ted Williams.

In the stretch run of a brilliant career, Mays passed Williams, another thoroughbred, to become the third greatest home run hitter of all time.

The blast that put him there was a two-run shot off Gibson in the first inning last night that gave the first place Giants a 2-1 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals. It was his 17th of the season and the 522nd of his 15-year carer, putting him one ahead of Williams.

Only Babe Ruth, with 714 homers, Jimmy Foxx, with 534, are between him and the top.

But Mays took in stride all the glory heaped upon him.

"I'm not trying to get past anybody," he said. "I might have been pressing for No. 512 (which broke the National League record), but the pressure wasn't as great for this one.

"I was just trying to hit the ball off Gibson, but I knew this one was gone when I hit it."

Mays has had his troubles catching the Cardinal right-hander. It was only his second homer off Gibson and the first since June, 1962.

Gibson admitted, "I've been pretty lucky against him," but that still didn't make the loss any easier to take. Gibson has held Mays and his slugging teammates to 11 hits in three games this season and lost all three.

The loss broke his four-game winning streak and was only his second in the last 10 games. He now is 11-7.

"Of all guys to throw that pitch to," he said, "it had to be Mays."

"It was a fast ball right down the pipe," said Cardinal catcher Tim McCarver. "This game just shows you how good Gibby is. He's been pitching tough games on three days rest all season and this was one of his worst, but he still held them to two runs."

Gibson left for a pinch hitter in the seventh inning when his mates were unable to get a run off Giant hurler Ron Herbel. They managed one run in the eighth off Bill Henry on Lou Brock's triple and a ground out. It could have been worse, but for Mays.

He streaked in to make a one-handed grab of a pop fly after the triple. The ball was jarred loose in a collision with shortstop Jim Davenport, but the umpires ruled he held it long enough for the out.

McCovey Landslide Victor In All-Star Vote

The Man Who Traded Robinson To Orioles

If the Baltimore Orioles win the American League pennant — and why not? — there'll be no doubt who the baseball Executive of the Year is.

They should let William O. DeWitt throw out the first ball, vote in two full shares of the Series and give him a ticker-tape parade around Chesapeake Bay. They should elect him the man who has done the most for American League baseball in 46 years.

William O. DeWitt is the kind of a guy you'd send a car for in a poker game. Baseball is just a sideline with him. Philantrophy is his racket. William O. would trade you the Cathedral at Chartres for Our Lady of Sorrows Church in Dubuque. He'd trade you the Hope Diamond for a locket that would turn green.

THEY WERE afraid when Bill DeWitt bought the Cincinnati Reds he would run major league baseball out of Cincinnati, and, by golly, he has.

The trade of Frank Robinson to the Baltimore Orioles for a hohum pitcher and two guys who keep their suitcases packed, makes the purchase of Alaska look like a hard bargain. Any other industry, the Better Business Bureau would make you give them money back. Even a kid with bubble-gum cards knows better than to trade one Frank Robinson for a Milt Pappas, a Jack Baldschun and a Dick Simpson.

ANYTIME YOU have a commodity of which there are only about a half dozen in nature, it behooves you to hang onto it or get quid pro quo. You don't let a Rembrandt go for a tint of Turhan Bey. Not even David Harum would expect to get Kauai King for a plater.

Frank Robinson is one of the authentic super-stars of the game. He is the best hitter Cincinnati ever had—in runs, homers, extra-base hits, total bases and batting average. He is 18th on the all-time list of home run hitters in history.

You wonder what Cincinnati wanted him to do—take down the flag every night? Tell funny stories in the dugout? Direct traffic? Park cars?

HE IS THE most feared batter in the game. He must be. A total of 123 times in his career he has been hit by a pitched ball. He has led baseball in that melancholy category six times. He holds the record for direct hits formerly held by a ball-bearing factory at Schweinfurt. Willie Mays bites the dirt sometimes on a throw over to first, but Frank Robinson doesn't go down until he can read the signature on the ball or it has cut off his hearing on one side.

THERE IS NO more sincere form of flattery from a pitcher. The only higher form of expressed admiration would be to shoot him. It is a matter of record — police record — that Frank Robinson carried a gun. If he had been found shot in an alley, police would have immediately rounded up every left-handed pitcher in the league.

THE PITCHERS throw at him even when he's taking a lead off first. Once, when he got smacked in the side of the shoulder by a fastball, someone asked the pitcher, "Ball get away from you" "Yea," said the pitcher. "Got it too low." He gets hit more times than a backstop. He wears out more batting helmets than bats. The plastics industry carries him on the books as an asset.

SO DO THE Baltimore Orioles. He leads the league in homers and batting, and he leads the majors in runs scored. You not only shouldn't trade him even-up for a great pitcher, you shouldn't trade him even-up for a great ruin.

HE WILL very likely become the first player in history to win a Most Valuable Player award in each league, which should give you an idea of the mischief that's been done here. General managers in the National League wanted to make an across-the-board cut in pitchers' salaries the minute he left the league.

And American League pitchers, to a man, when asked who gave them the most trouble this year, answered as one: "Bill De Witt." They referred to him privately as "Bill De Nit-Witt."

NUMBER 523 WINS THE GAME

Willie Mays is greeted at home plate by teammate Willie McCovey after the fabulous San Francisco outfielder blasted this 523rd major league home run to pass Ted Williams on the all-time homer list, leaving only Jimmy Foxx (534) and Babe Ruth (714) ahead of him. The homer, Mays' 17th of the season, came in the first inning and gave the Giants their two runs in a 2-1 over victory at St. Louis last night. (UPI telephoto)

WIMBLEDON TOURNAMENT

Billie Jean Gains Semis

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Billie Jean King of Long Beach, Calif., moved in the semifinal round of women's singles in the All- England Tennis Tournament today with a 1-6, 6-2, 6-4 conquest of Annette Van Zyl of South Africa.

In contrast with previous days of the 1966 championships, the weather conditions were ideal.

Margaret Smith of Australia, the defending champion, was the first to gain the semifinal round. She polished off Trudy Groenman of The Netherlands 6-0, 6-4.

She was followed by Maria Bueno of Brazil, darling of the Wimbledon galleries, who eliminated Francoise Durr of France, 6-4, 6-3.

Mrs. King's volleying in her match against Miss Van Zyl was an in-and-out affair, but luckily for the American it finished mainly in.

Her timing was off in the first set, and the South African girl pounded to a 6-1 lead as Billie Jean netted time after time.

Then in the second the pattern changed and it was the South African who was made to scuttle around. Mrs. King's volleying began to show its usual accuracy as she took the net at every opportunity.

The South African, seeded sixth, still continued to try to outdrive the California girl, ranked fourth, and she just didn't have the pinpoint accuracy to do it.

Then Mrs. King's volleying touch deserted her again in the opening games of the final set and the South African girl led 3-0.

Then, as suddenly as they had in the second set, Billie Jean's volleys began to work again. The South African girl had no answer as Billie Jean rushed to the net behind her serves and put away the points without trouble.

Terrell Puts WBA Title On Line Against Jones Tonight

Since then, he has fought the best heavyweights he could find, including Cassius Clay, the generally recognized champion, who was just coming up then. Clay outpointed him, but many claimed the decision went the wrong way.

So now, Jones goes against the fellow who thinks he should be the recognized champion since he represents the only world's association but realizes that Clay, although suspended while he was WBA champion, still is regarded as the big man of the game.

Each predicts victory, and Jones bravely forecasts that he will knock out the taller and stronger Terrell, whose superior height and reach have made him a 6 to 5 favorite.

Terrell only says he will "beat him bad, maybe knock him out."

The two come together in a match scheduled for 15 rounds and expected to start about 8 p.m., PDT. A crowd approaching 10,000 and paying $130,000 is expected to be in Sam Houston Coliseum.

Whoever wins, he has two offers of future fights.

Irving Ungerman, manager of George Chuvalo, who was beaten by Terrell in November, made a bid of $75,000 to the winner of the Terrell-Jones fight.

Hugh Benbow, manager of Cleveland Williams, the only fighter to knock out Terrell —in 1962 — made an offer of $50,000. Benbow plans to put the fight on in Houston's famed Astrodome if he gets it.

While Terrell is favored in the odds, it should be noted that Jones has made a most impressive showing in his training here. Terrell hasn't been as impressive so much as showing a different style from that for which he is best known.

He has been a strong puncher and given no indication of using his slowing down style that featured a devastating jab and of holding up his opponent.

Terrell has been given little credit for having a right hand of any power but some of the right-hand shots he got off against sparring partners in his 40 rounds of drilling here might indicate otherwise.

Terrell figures to get $265,000 from both the gate and closed television going into 67 cities. Jones expects about $132,000.

Terrell will enter the ring at 210 pounds and boasting a five-inch height advantage over the 6-1, 190-pound Jones. Terrell also has an advantage of five inches in reach.

Williams appears in a 10-rounder just before the main event when he fights Tod Herring of Houston.

Clay Vs. London Aug. 6, Mildenberger Sept. 10

By MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK (AP) — Heavyweight champion Cassius Clay is virtually set to meet Britain's Brian London in London, England, Aug. 6 and West Germany's Karl Mildenberger in Frankfurt, Germany, Sept. 10 or 17, the Associated Press learned today.

In London, British promoter Jack Solomons said only "one or two little things" still had to be ironed before Clay and the 32-year-old London sign contracts for July 30, Aug. 6 or Aug. 13 in London, Blackpool or Manchester."

Solomons' representative Lawrie Lewis was meeting in New York with Arthur Grafton, attorney for Clay's Louisville sponsoring group.

Grafton confirmed that the London fight was close to being made.

"There are a number of points still under discussion," said Grafton. "It may take a day or two to iron them out. But I'll say Solomons is within range on terms and dates."

From another source here, the Associated Press learned that the likely date and site for the Clay-London fight was Aug. 6 at London's Wembley indoor stadium, which seats about 12,000.

If successful against London, Clay then would take on Mildenberger, the European champion, at Frankfurt, Sept. 10 or 17.

Both fights would be telecast to the United States and other parts of the world just as was done for Clay's defense against Briton Henry Cooper at London, May 21. Clay stopped Cooper on cuts in the sixth round.

Amalfitano Sent To Tacoma Club

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Cubs sent utility infielder Joe Amalfitano to Tacoma of the Pacific Coast League yesterday to make room for infielder Ron Campbell, who was recalled Sunday.

Campbell is expected to fill in for Ron Santo, who suffered a fractured cheekbone Sunday when hit by a pitch by New York Mets pitcher Jack Fisher.

Santo underwent surgery yesterday and was resting comfortably. He is expected to be out for at least a week and possibly 10 days.

Miss Wosser, 18, Wins Sail-Off For Adams Cup

Susie Wosser, 18-year-old daughter of outstanding Bay yachtsman Frank "Jake" Wosser of Tiburon, won the San Francisco Yacht Club sail-off for Adams Cup in the last of six race series Sunday off Point Knox.

The young contender defeated veteran skippers Sally Mathews and Ricki Treacy. Cal-30 class yachts were raced. Susie will represent SFYC in the Bay Area competition for women's North American Sailing Championships in Richmond July 2-3-4. Crewing for Susie are Priscilla Mitchell and Terry Pritchett Lewton, both of Belvedere.

National Adms Cup finals will be hosted by the San Francisco Y.C., Belvedere, Aug. 28-Sept. 1. Points scored: Wosser, 14¾; Treacy, 11½; Mathews, 11¼.

Hart May Sub For Ron Santo

NEW YORK (UPI) — Sluggers Brooks Robinson and Willie McCovey each drew more than 200 votes today as the leading infielders named to start in this year's All-Star game July 12 at St. Louis.

The office of baseball Commissioner William Eckert released only the infield selected for each league. The outfielders and batterymen will be named later for the 37th All-Star Game. The Nationals lead 18-17. One game ended in a tie.

WILLIE McCOVEY
Landslide choice

Robinson, the Baltimore Orioles third baseman, collected a high of 257 votes from his fellow American League players. McCovey, the big San Francisco Giants first baseman, topped the National League with 214 votes.

This was the seventh year in which Robinson has made the All-Star team, while McCovey will be playing in his second mid-season baseball classic.

Injuries cost two National League infielders playing berths on the team. Ron Santo of the Chicago Cubs, who ped the league third basemen in voting with 151, suffered a cracked left cheekbone Sunday when he was felled by a Jack Fisher pitch in the opener of a doubleheader with the New York Mets.

Joe Morgan, peppery second baseman of the Houston Astros, was struck by a ball during pre-game batting practice last Saturday that fractured his kneecap. He had received 144 votes.

Jim Lefebvre of the Los Angeles Dodgers drew the next highest number of votes for a second baseman in ths NL, 94, and Jim Ruy Hart of the giants was named on 125 ballots as runner-up at third base. They will in all likelihood share the game.

Leo Cardenas of the Cincinnati Reds was an overwhelming choice of shortstop with 149 votes, a comfortable figure over the 88 drawn by Los Angeles' Maury Wills.

Rounding out the American League infield were two newcomers to All-Star glory, first baseman George Scott of the Boston Red Sox and second baseman Bobby Knoop of the California Angels, and veteran Dick McAuliffe of Detroit at shortstop.

Scott had 141 votes to 62 for Norm Cash mf the Detroit Tigers and Knoop edged Bobby Richardson of the New York Yankees 138-131.

McAuliffe was first on 122 ballots. Luis Aparicio of the Baltimore Orioles received 77 votes.

Robinson, the A.L.'s runs-batted-in leader, had no competition in the voting. Harmon Killebrew of the Minnesota Twins gathered a mere 12 votes as runnerup.

McCovey's selection as senior circuit first baseman was equally majestic. Bill White of the Philadelphia Phillies drew 45 votes as next in line.

The National League, finally taking the lead last year in the series that dates back to 1933, loses much-needed batting power with the sidelining of two key stars. Morgan was batting .315 and Santo was hitting .310. Hart makes a capable starting replacement for Santo with his .306 average.

A total of 294 ballots were cast in the National League and 287 in the American League.

Don't Be Too Hopeful About Sandy, Juan Getting 30 Wins

HANLEY

ST. LOUIS—Dizzy Dean was the last 30-game winner. Baseball fans constantly are reminded of Dean's 30-7 record in 1934 every time Juan Marichal and Sandy Koufax go to the mound these days since the Giant righthander and the Dodger southpaw have a shot at 30 this season.

But besides Dean just how many 30-game winners were there in the National League? Three. That's all. Christy Mathewson, Joe McGinnity and Grover Cleveland Alexander. If you want to go back prior to 1900 make it four. Hoss Radbourne was credited with 60 wins for Providence, then in the National League, in 1884. However, records prior to 1900 are not carefully documented.

There's nothing suspect about the great Mathewson's record. He won 30 or more in four seasons, 1903 (30-13), 1904 (33-12), 1905 (31-9), 1908 (37-11). McGinnity's two 30-game seasons also are well documented, 1903 (31-20), 1904 (35-8). The same is true of Alexander's three 30-game seasons for the Phillies in 1915 (31-10), 1916 (33-12), 1917 (30-13).

MATHEWSON AND McGinnity are the only teammates ever to win 30 in the same season and they did it twice for the 1903-04 Giants. A quick glance at McGinnity's 31-20 record in 1903 explains why he was nicknamed Iron Man.

What about the American League? How many 30-game winners over there? Eight. Cy Young, Red Sox, 1901-02; Jack Chesbro, Yankees, 1904; Ed Walsh, White Sox, 1908; Jack Coombs, Athletics, 1910; Joe Wood, Red Sox, 1912; Walter Johnson, Senators, 1912-13; Jim Bagby, Indians, 1920; Lefty Grove, Athletics, 1931.

AND BEFORE 1900 in the other league? Tim O'Keefe pitched for the Metropolitans of the American Association, rated as a major league in the 1800s, and was credited with 240 wins over a seven-year stretch so his annual production ranged between 30 and 40.

THUS, INCLUDING O'Keefe and Radbourne, there have been just 14 30-game winners in the history of baseball, a rather exclusive club to which such men as Carl Hubbell, Bucky Walters, Robin Roberts and Don Newcombe couldn't gain entrance.

Rubbell won 26 in 1936, his best of four constcutive 20-game seasons for the 1934-35-36-37 Giants. Walters won 27 for the Reds in their 1939 pennant year. Roberts won 28 in 1952, his best of six straight 20-game seasons from 1950 through 1955 for the Phillies. Newcombe won 27 for the 1956 Dodgers.

THE BEST bids for 30 since Newcombe's effort were Don Drysdale's 25 in 1962, 25-game seasons in 1963 for Marichal and Koufax and the 26-game try Koufax made last year.

So don't get too excited yet about either Marichal or Koufax opening the door to the 30-game club this season. And the chances of both of them doing it wouldn't tempt any sensible person into mortgaging the homestead.

Aside from Mathewson and McGinnity in 1903-4, there were only two 30-game winners in one season when Wood and Johnson turned the trick in 1912.

SMITH AND LINDGREN ADDED TO U.S. SQUAD

Independent-Journal Sports

26 June 28, 1966

NEW YORK (AP) — If the United States regains the superiority in track it lost to the Russians in Kiev last year, much of the credit will belong to youngsters.

Scattered throughout the list of the competitors who will face the Russian team in a dual meet at Los Angeles July 23-24 — and the Polish team the week before at Berkeley — are a stack of teen-agers and near-teens.

The roster, released yesterday by the men's track and field committee of the Amateur Athletic Union, contained the top performers in last weekend's AAU championships. Added were Tommie Smith, the sprinter from San Jose State, and Gerry Lindgren, the long-distance star from Washington State. Both missed the meet because of various ailments.

Lindgren is the elder statesman of the young stars — he's all of 20. The frail youth was named to the team at 10,000 meters, the event that thrust him into prominence two years ago when he beat the highly favored Russians in the dual meet.

Top performer among the teen-agers is Jim Ryun, 19, who is America's best at the mile. He will run the 1,500 meters and will be heavily favored. In the AAU meet, he ran the mile in 3:58.6.

Another youngster named to the long-distance crew is Riley, who has been breaking most of Lindgren's high-school records in Spokane, Wash. Riley, who is not much bigger than Lindgren, also was named at 10,000 meters.

Lee Evans, also 19, from San Jose City College, will run the 400 meters against the Russians off the strength of his 45.9 victory in the 440 at the AAU meet.

Then there are the pole vaulters. Bob Seagren, 19, of the Southern California Striders, holds the pending world's record of 17-5½ and Paul Wilson, a Strider teammate, holds the national high-school mark of 16-3¾ set only last year.

Stan Albright, of the Cleveland Striders, named to the high-jump squad, turned in a 6-8¼ performance last year, while still in high school.

Last year the Russians upset the favored American squad 118-112, marking the first time in seven dual meets with the Soviet that the United States had lost.

Four Marin Netters In Tournament

Four Marin County netters saw action yesterday in the 19th National Junior Hardcourt Tennis Championships at Burlingame's Peninsula Tennis Club.

The Moffat boys of Mill Valley tucked away a pair of first-round victories. Ray Moffat defeated James MacBride, 6-2, 6-2, in the boys' 12 age division and Andy Moffat downed Ron Kern, 6-3, 6-0 in the boys, 14 division.

Andrew Wilson of Tiburon stopped Danny Ovadia, 6-1, 6-2, in the boys' 18 division.

Margot Hemingway of Mill Valley lost to Terry Holladay, 6-0, 6-1, in the girls' 12 division.

Staggering Dodgers Trail By 5 Lengths

CINCINNATI (UPI) — The sagging Los Angeles Dodgers, who led the San Francisco Giants by one game on June 11 but now trail their arch rivals by five games, will make a second attempt to regain winning form against the Cincinnati Reds tonight behind the southpaw pitching of Claude Osteen.

The Reds tripped up Los Angeles 3-1 last night.

Osteen, whose record stands at 9-5, will journey to the mound seeking his sixth straight win. He will hurl against the Reds' hard-luck lefthander Sammy Ellis, 4-11.

Osteen got the Dodgers off to a good start in their current road trip when he combined with fireman Phil Regan for a 4-0 whitewash of the Atlanta Braves.

But Los Angeles was staggered badly in a Saturday day-night doubleheader in which the Braves took two one-run decisions. Only a typically great pitching performance by Sandy Koufax in a 2-1 victory Sunday saved the Dodgers from making their 3-1 loss to the Reds Monday night their fourth in a row.

As it was, the loss to the Reds dopped Los Angeles one more game off the pace since the Giants edged the St. Louis Cardinals 2-1 on Willie Mays' 522nd career home run with Jay Alou on base.

Cincinnati jumped to a quick two-run lead in the first inning when Pete Rose doubled in Tommy Harper, who had singled, and scored on Vada Pinson's single.

The Reds added their third run in the second on Johnny Edwards' fourth homer of the season. Milt Pappas went 7 1-3 innings and scattered eight hits to pick up his seventh victory in 12 decisions. Billy McCool blanked the Dodgers in relief.

The Dodgers' only run came in the first inning on doubles by Maury Wills and Willie Davis. The loss went to starter Joe Moeller in his first decision mf the season. He allowed seven hits in the four innings he worked.

What A Day For College Golfer!

RICHMOND, Ind. (AP) — Playing in a 36-hole qualifying round for the Indiana Amateur Golf Tournament, Scott Porter of Richmond shot two holes in one yesterday.

Porter, No. 1 man on the Ball State University golf team, scored both aces on the 145-yard fifth hole at Forest Hills Country Club. He used an eight-iron in the morning, a nine in the afternoon.

He never before had shot a hole in one. He had rounds of 69 and 73.

11,200 Saw Pro Tennis At Gap; Big Payday For Champ

The ballboys have eased their feet by now. The losers try again in Oklahoma City, which is a heck of a prosepct. And Peacock Gap returns to normal again. VASSS has had another try.

Some of the players hollered loudly about the new spystem. Some didn't. Some of the fans loved it. Some could care less. So what did VASSS and this year's Peacock Gap Invitational Professional Tennis Tournament add up to? A bunch of figures, that's what.

First of all, 11,200 fans went to see the four-day extravaganza, shelling out approximately $60,000, according to Jerome Draper Jr. of Peacock Gap.

Approximately $20,000 of that went right back into the eager hands of the participants and none of them came away empty, which is one of nicer things about VASSS, no matter what else was said about it.

Ken Rosewall, the winner, got the most, with $2,525 for his singles victory and half of the doubles money, $855, for a nice total of $3,880.

But even the low man on the totem pole, Pancho Segura, who won only one match, had enough money for the weekend. He finished last in the point standings which was good for $545 and also received another $360 for his doubles work with Alex Olmedo. That's $905. Who says you can't win for losing?

Here are the final money earnings:

SINGLES

1, Ken Rosewall, $2,525 (includes $850 title prize); 2, Rod Laver, $2,010 (includes $425 second place prize); 3, Andres Gimeno, $1,840 (includes $255 third place prize); 4, Lew Hoad, $1,380 (includes $170 fourth place prize); 5, Mal Anderson, $890; 6, Luis Ayala, $860; Pierre Barthes, $755; 7, Earl Buchholz, $740; 8, Michael Davies, $695; 9, Barry MacKay, $680; 10, Alex Olmedo, $660; 11, Pancho Segura, $545.

1, Hoad-Rosewall, $1,710 (includes $280 title prize); 2, Laver-Buchholz, $1,350 (includes $150 second place prize); 3, Gimeno-Barthes, $1,205 (includes $50 third place prize); 4, Ayala-MacKay, $750; 5, Segura-Olmeda, $720; 6, Anderson-Davies, $685.

Terra Lindans Lead Youth Baseball League

Terra Linda Athletic Club vaulted into first place of the San Rafael Youth Easeball League by rapping Burgar's Construction, 7-3, yesterday at Albert Park.

The win gave Terra Linda a 3-1 record while Burgar's dropped into a three-way tie for second place with Conti Plumbing and Rotary-Native Sons. All three have 3-2 records.

In another game yesterday, the Jaycees handed United Market its fourth straight loss without a win, 6-2.

Jerry Goodrick pitched a two-hitter and struck out 15 batters for Terra Linda and Rafael Gallardo whacked a double, a triple and a home run to pace the hitting attack.

The FISHIN' FOOL

By RALPH STEVENS
I-J Fish and Game Writer

Variety Is Spice Of Life, So These Anglers Hit A Jackpot

STEVENS

It is said that variety is the spice of life, so I get the idea that anglers aboard Dave Kinley's Evie K boat recently proved their love of variety by landing 16 salmon to 25 pounds, 21 striped bass to 20 pounds and five halibut to 20 pounds. The epic adventure took place off Thornton Beach and Mussel Rock. Mrs. Dave Kinley, who phoned in the above report, hinted that the seven fishermen admitted to being "pooped" from hooking and landing the variety.

SPEAKING OF halibut angling, Sid McMullin, of Caruso's place at Sausalito, reported a huge school of the flatties are now holding a meeting in the Seal Rocks area. "From 5 to 10 fish per boat with the halibut ranging from 10 to 28 pounds," said Sid. Apparently the weather and water conspired to keep the sports anglers away from the halibut meeting. "Too tough to be pleasant," said McMullin, then added: "Most of the boats are calling it quits today (Sunday) and are coming back to the barn."

BASS FISHING has been very spotty the past few days in the S. F. bay waters, although a few sizable fish have been taken at the South Towers, a few in Racoon Strait and Alcatraz.

Talking to the Lee Anderson Bait and Tackle in Oakland, I was told at least four of the regulars made the grade with limits or near limits of hefty stripers. Mostly caught on spreaders or drifting with live shiners. Clarence Daniel took his legal trio to 18 pounds at the South Tower, Tom Hunter landed his three just above the bridge on the Napa River, Johnny Baker, using a drifting rig, accounted for one striper weighing in at 21 pounds and one that went 26 pounds in the Racoon Strait, and Elwood Ryan boated a limit to 29½ pounds at the Brothers. I understand that Ryan trolled a Pet Spoon and a white jig for his limit.

WORD FROM the Golden Hinde boatery at Inverness was not encouraging. Bill Carlton rated it as spotty, and added: "Very Spotty." Joe Wun of the Sports Center in Castro Valley reported fair fishing in Lake Chabot with black bass to three and one-half pounds coming in, and oodles of bluegills and crappies as well. Best lure seems to have been the small "Froggie" spinning lure (A Weber product). Joe also gave honorable mention to the party aboard the boat Loraine who came to port with more than 100 assorted rockfish and one 20 pound bass taken by Marlan Stinds.

THE LATE trolling in the upper San Pablo continues to yield limits or near limits for all rods working. And that is 30 for the nonce.

Marin Softball Team To Enter Hayward Tourney

Sohner Tree Service, winner in 10 of its last 11 games, has accepted a bid to the fifth annual Class "A" Hayward Invitational Softball Tournament this weekend, team officials disclosed yesterday.

The Treemen of San Anselmo did not get the best of the draw in the single elimination tourney, as they are bracketed with two teams that are ranked in the top five in Northern California.

The Treemen first must face Balestra Pontiac of Redwood City at 9 p.m. Friday. A victory would pit Sohner against the Fairchild Falcons of Mt. View Saturday night.

The Redwood City nine finished second behind Rector Motors of San Mateo in the California State Softball finals last year while Mt. View won the State Championship in 1954 and finished fifth in the World Tournament.

Rector Motors, current leaders in the North Coast Traveling League with a 14-0 record, are also in the tournament.

Other teams include: Santa Cruz Merchants, Concord Merchants, Alameda Men's Wear, Santa Clara Hawks and three Hayward teams.

Meadow Club In Win Over Olympic

Meadow Club of Fairfax stopped the Olympic Club golf team, of San Francisco, 12½-6½ at Meadow Club Sunday.

Rick Timmer and Buzz Beattie shared medalist honors with 74s.

THE NEW SPACEMAN

Chuck Taylor of East Alton, Ill., is aiming for the skies as his sprint car sails through the air at the New Breman Speedway. Taylor didn't go into orbit but suffered injuries Sunday as his car flipped over four times in a sprint consolation race. Some consolation. (AP Wirephoto)

The Most Up-to-Date Method
Of Buying and Selling Real Estate

MULTIPLE LISTING

- IT GETS FASTER RESULTS!
- IT COSTS NO MORE!

Thousands of homes have been sold by Marin REALTORS through the efficiency of the Marin County Multiple Listing Service.

This modern cooperative system has conclusively proved to property owners its value as a sales asset.

Unlike the "old days" you do not have to shop around from office to office to list your house. Today you sign one agreement with one MARIN REALTOR, and your listing—with photograph and giving complete details—is broadcast from the Real Estate Board office to its entire membership. Automatically the property you wish to sell is called to the attention of a Sales Force of more than 994 realty experts. Any Marin REALTOR will multiple list your home. Whether he or a fellow REALTOR sells it, only one commission is paid.

Phone your Nearest Marin REALTOR, ask him to put your name on Multiple Listing.

Wooden Indians Go From Tract

ROCKFORD, Ill. (AP)—Kidnappers have been taking the wooden Indian maidens from the Tulocks Woods Subdivision and returning them from time to time. Perhaps "The Old Girl," as the statue was affectionately known, will also return.

She is missing from the yard of Thomas Carriso's residence. Carved nine years ago by Chief Big Wind near Lac du Flambeau, Wis., she was dressed in a blue cape and looked very matronly.

"I'm very unhappy about it," said Mrs. Carriso. "It's surprising how much you miss something. You don't notice it, but when it's gone, the yard looks so bare."

Nose Can Lead To Fire Source

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Pittsburgh firemen are firm believers in the adage, where there's smoke, there's fire.

Answering an alarm at a five-story building recently, firemen at first could find no blaze. But the smell of smoke was strong.

They persisted — and located the trouble. A mop in the basement was smoldering.

Texas Park Requests Setting New Record

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Reservations for summer state parks vacation are running at a record rate, reports the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

It says full houses are expected by late May at Garner, Huntsville, Inks Lake, Lake Whitney, Corpus Christi, Falcon, Martin Dies Dam B, Goose Island and Fort Parker state parks.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Excessive Perspiration Can Be Embarrassing, May Be Curbed

VAN DELLEN

Some persons perspire so that it drips off the body and stains the clothing. When limited to the palms, everything touched is likely to become wet. It is embarrassing to shake hands and when writing the skin sticks to the paper. Hose may be discolored when feet perspire and a contact dermatitis may occur when the moisture mixes with chemicals in the shoes. The skin between toes is macerated and ringworm often develops.

OVERACTIVITY of sweat glands is aggravated by warmth, physical exertion, obesity, heavy clothing, and fever. Heredity, overindulgence in alcohol, coffee, or spicy foods are other factors.

Beads of perspiration form on the upper lip, forehead, and chest of some persons only after eating spicy foods, chocolate, tomato sauce, or drinking tea. Because the sweat glands are controlled by the nervous system, the condition is worse during periods of excitement or anxiety.

Various preparations are available for generalized sweating. These include atropine, belladonna, sedatives, Banthine, Prantal, and the antihistaminics, but the outcome is not always satisfactory. All too often the victim is inwardly tense and the sweat glands are behaving accordingly. In severe cases, X-ray treatment or sympathectomy has been tried when sweating is localized, but these measures seldom are recommended.

FOR LOCALIZED sweating one of the many antiperspirants on the market usually is effective. Spicy foods and stimulants should be eliminated from the diet. Now and then tonic baths of sea salt or alum are useful. Other beneficial measures include dusting the skin with powder and foot baths containing potassium permanganate or formaldehyde.

The application of an aluminum chloride solution also is of value. The socks, underwear and outer clothing should be changed frequently. Women can dress in a minimum and are more fortunate than men in this regard.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompaines request.)

FACIAL DISORDERS

R. Y. writes: Is Bell's palsy the same as facial neuralgia?

REPLY

No. In Bell's palsy, the seventh, or facial, nerve is involved and the outcome is paralysis of the muscles of one side of the face. Facial neuralgia is an affliction of the trigeminal nerve and is characterized by pain rather than paralysis. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on Bell's palsy.

WINDPIPE SURGERY

R. S. writes: What is a tracheotomy?

REPLY

An emergency operation in which the surgeon makes an incision directly into the windpipe somewhere between the Adam's apple and the collar bone. This procedure is done to save the sufferer from strangulation when there is obstruction in the throat or larynx.

ONE CAUSE

T. E. writes: Does rheumatic fever cause skipped beats of the heart?

REPLY

Many irregularities of the heart, including skipped beats, occur in an attack of rheumatic fever.

AGE AND ALCOHOLISM

R. K. wirtes: Can an older person become an alcoholic or does the habit usually start in youth?

REPLY

No age is immune. I understand that alcoholism is becoming a problem among retired persons.

San Rafael's General Plan On Agenda Again

What San Rafael will one day look like and what her citizens may or may not do with their property may be determined to some extent tomorrow evening.

At 7:30 p.m., the city planning commission will hold its next-to-last hearing on the long-delayed San Rafael General Plan.

The plan was first presented to the city in 1964 after three years of preparation by the planning firm of William Spangle and Associates and consulting engineer Daniel P. Coleman.

It promptly ran into strong objections centering on proposed controls on development of privately owned tidelands.

Spangle later advised the city council that this involved a fundamental conflict between "increasing public interest in recreation and conservation" and "the objectives of the majority of the owners of submerged lands" holding them as investments for development.

As a result, all lands east of the dikes which parallel San Rafael's present east shore was removed from the plan. Subsequently, the legislature placed these temporarily under control of the Bay Conservation and Development Commission.

The planning commission will discuss the revised plan tomorrow and in a final public hearing July 19. If approved by the commission, as expected, it will go to the city council for adoption.

Between the existing dikes and the present shoreline, provision is made for high and low density residential development, commercial and light industrial belts, parks and open areas, schools and water recreation.

Another controversial feature of the original plan that will come under discussion is the routing of a proposed coastal road.

This was first conceived as a freeway running well out into the tidelands from San Quentin around San Pedro Point and beyond Hamilton Air Force Base.

Projected now is a shoreline boulevard that will follow the present line of dikes to San Pedro Point and then hug the coastline north of the point.

Discussion before the planning commission will not be limited, however, to these items. All letters received on any aspect of the plan will be noted and interested persons will be heard.

Some Barbers Do Very Well

CHICAGO (AP) — Barbering today is becoming a sophisticated business.

Arther Wilson, who isn't a barber himself, owns an International Men's Hair Styling shop.

He imported barbers from Europe. "Some of our barbers make $12,000 a year," Wilson said. "It is becoming a professional craftsman's job."

Massacuhsetts School Drops Student Curfew

AMHERST, Mass. (AP) — Officials at the University of Massachusetts have agreed to abolish a campus "blue law" which has irked students for years.

Beginning with the next term, student curfews will be out. The curfews varied with classes, but generally were 11 p.m. weekdays, 1 a.m. Saturday night and midnight on Sunday.

Santa's Birthplace

DEMRE, Turkey (UPI)—St. Nicholas, more popularly known as Santa Claus, was born in this little town on Turkey's western Mediterranean coast on Dec. 6, 350 A.D.

Cumana Oldest City Of Europe Origin

CARACAS (UPI) —Cumana, an eastern Venezuelan port on the Caribbean, is the oldest city settled by Europeans on the South American continent.

It was founded by Spanish soldiers in 1515 and named "Nueva Cordoba." In 1569 it was renamed for the river that crosses the city, which now has a population of 70,000.

MONTGOMERY WARD

REG. 5.99 OIL BASE HOUSE PAINT

Why paint twice when once will do? This oil-base paint has extra-hiding power—covers most colors in just one coat. It's durable, too! Lab tests have proved that white stays bright and colors won't fade for years.

4.66 PER GALLON

REG. 4.99 ACRYLIC LATEX PAINT

No matter what the surface is, this paint does the job for you—wood, stucco, asbestos shingles or masonry! Resists moisture blistering on wood and alkali damage on masonry. Stays clean and bright without the usual chalking action so common with other paints of its type. Apply it in 'most any weather, even on damp surfaces, then wash hands and tools in plain soap and water.

Skilled chemists develop new, advanced products in Wards own modern paint factories. For example, they have developed a process in which alkyd oil is added to an acrylic latex base to produce Acrylic Latex 401—the only paint we know of that promises 1-coat coverage over any previously painted chalking surface—without priming! 401—an example of Wards continual quest to develop the best, through research . . . then better it.

Lincoln School Pupil Saves Rabbit From Snake, Then Cat Adopts It

One of the best animal stories that we have ever heard comes to us from the Lincoln School area. Paul Dolcini, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Dolcini Jr., was walking across the fields from the Lincoln School where he is in the second grade to his home.

He spotted a gopher snake and two very small rabbits. The snake was wrapped around one of the baby rabbits trying to kill it.

Paul took a rock and hit the snake several times until it released the baby rabbit.

THE BABY RABBIT looked as though it was about to die, so Paul gave it mouth to mouth resuscitation to revive it.

When it began breathing normally, Paul took the two baby rabbits home.

At their farm home at 6970 Red Hill Road, the Dolcinis have a mother cat who was nursing kittens. The mother cat adopted and nursed the two baby rabbits. They grew bigger and friskier. In fact, they grew so frisky that they hopped out of the box in which they were kept and back to the pasture which was their home.

HAVE YOU EVER noticed the originality which developers have used in naming the shopping centers in Novato? It seems to me as though they did not have any at all or at least did not show it.

Take these names for example: Nave Shopping Center, Novato Fair Shopping Center, Novato Square Shopping Center, and then add to that Town and Country Shopping Center and Downtown Novato Shopping Center.

IT'S ALMOST enough to make one wish that they would name one the "Chopekee Trading Post" or something like that. (For those who do not know the local lore, Chopekee was the name of the Indian Village on Novato Creek.)

Now that the election is over, where are those candidates who promised to remove their campaign signs? The utility pole on our corner still has three of the signs on it.

And what happened to those voters who promised to vote for the candidates who would take down their posters? They must have voted because the pole has posters for only losing candidates.

THE COUNTY PARK bond issue failed, but all is not lost. Sure, some of the best park sites will be subject to the developers bulldozers in the near future.

That does not mean that there will not be any left. Last year Fire Chief George Cavallero of the Novato Fire District, took me on an inspection trip on the fire trails up to the summit of Big Rock Ridge.

We passed over several ridges and along a stream that had many excellent park sites. There were groves of redwoods and other trees along the stream.

So long before the developer's bulldozers reach these remote areas, the people may become conservation minded and want to preserve some of them for future generations. When this happens, Big Rock Ridge will be there with many suitable sites. North Marin will continue to have park sites for some time to come.

High Court Rewrites History In 'People vs. Cain' Decision

The Supreme Court, usually content with making history, completely rewrote it today when it reversed a lower court sentence imposed some 5,700 years ago. By a 5 to 4 decision, it absolved Cain of the murder of Abel.

AT THE SAME time, the court made it clear that it stood by its recent dictum that the new strict rules on police questioning of suspects were not to be applied retroactively.

"The exception was made," said Chief Justice Warren, "in the interest of the greater good. We wanted to correct once and for all the judicial errors in the case of The People vs. Cain, which set a false precedent for 5700 years and has resulted in so many miscarriages of Justice."

Here, in lay language, are the highlights of the majority opinion, which was written by the chief justice:

The so - called confession (Genesis, Chapter 4) was obtained by an officer who failed to tell Cain he need not testify against himself and that he had a right to have an attorney present during the questioning. The mere fact that there were no lawyers in existence at the time in no way abrogated the constitutional rights of the suspect to be represented by counsel.

By the officer's own report, the defendant, when first questioned, said straightforwardly he did not know where Abel was and could hardly be expected to, not being his brother's keeper. It was only after custodial interrogation, during which Cain was virtually incommunicado, that he broke down and "confessed."

During that period, the officer asserted He heard Abel's blood crying from the ground, a patently false statement designed to terrorize the defendant. Any confession, obtained under duress by the use of such nefarious "third-degree" techniques, can have no standing before the bar of justice.

THERE IS prima facie evidence, too, that the police brutality was not only psychological but shockingly physical. Before the interrogation, the suspect was unscarred; after it, he bore the so-called mark of Cain, a memento of his savage ordeal that remained with him the rest of his life.

Further proof, if any were needed, of the Star Chamber quality of the proceedings, lies in the undisputed fact that the officer acted not only as prosecutor, but as judge and jury, too. "The whole case smacks of blatant McCarthyism," the report concludes, "and the judgment of the lower court is hereby reversed."

It is a little too early, perhaps, to predict all the consequences of this landmark decision. But, sparing no expense, your reporter immediately got into telephonic communication with the parties most vitally concerned.

Located in the Land of Nod, somewhere east of Eden, Lamech Cain, a direct descendant of the accused, said: "It is a wonderful thing to have great-great-great-great - grand pappy's name cleared after all these years. We always knew he was innocent, and the family never gave up hope. Our deep thanks to the many people and organizations, especially the Nod Civil Liberties Union, the Friends of Lady Macbeth, and the local chapter of the DuBois Clubs, who contributed so much of their time and money to get the issue before the Warren Court."

Thus a spokesman for the Gideon Society: "No matter what our individual opinions may be, our directors plan to abide by the court's ruling. All our Bibles will be withdrawn from hotel rooms at once, and a revised 4th Chapter of Genesis will be written to conform with the decision. We will probably delete the confession and simply say Abel was slain by a person or persons unknown."

Atty. Gen. Katzenbach: "My department is making a careful study of the decision and, if the circumstances warrant it, I shall not hesitate to institute impeachment proceedings against the officer for obstructing the law. And, if necessary, I shall send federal deputies to bring Him into custody."

The officer in question could not be reached for a statement. He is said to be the head of a religious cult, but some local churchmen I queried indicated they thought He had passed away recently.
